He'll Try a Lindbergh
We Recognize All Three
Met 23, Knocked Out 23
The Constitution's Day

—By Arthur Brisbane—

ROY AMMEL, a red-haired young man from North Dakota, who did some air fighting in the war and enjoyed it, has invested his $40,000, including his last dollar, in a fast Lockheed explorer plane, and plans to fly, by himself, to Paris.

He calls the trip that he plans "doing a Lindbergh," and hopes to cover the distance, 3610 miles, in about 25 hours, beating Lindbergh by nearly eight hours.

If he does that, Lindbergh will be well pleased. The engine decides the speed, and Lindbergh, like everybody else, knows that the trip will be made, eventually, in 10 hours and less.

President Hoover did a good, wise day's work when, through Secretary Stimson, he announced our recognition of the three new South American governments, the Argentine, Peru and Bolivia.

Those new governments exist and evidently express the will of their peoples, or, at least, the determination of the most intelligent and forceful among them.

Each people's government is its own business.

It is our business to recognize the accomplished fact, not to moralize and hesitate, as we do foolishly with Russia.

Russia, by the way, which wishes and needs recognition, could get it by paying a small amount of money, less than forty millions, to some that foolishly bought the czar's and Kerensky's bonds.

The payment could be disguised, so that it wouldn't involve paying vastly larger sums owed to nations that HAVE already recognized Russia.

Primo Carnera, Italian giant from Venice, concludes his present tour of the United States, winding up with his 23d victim, a heavyweight called Jack Gross. He has met and knocked out 23 American heavyweights, and decides to "call it a day."

Intelligence possessed by the most important American heavyweights has made them keep away from the big Italian.

The general belief is that Carnera, when he hits, hits too hard, as the British boxer said of Jack L. Sullivan after he went over the ropes at the Crib Club in Boston, long ago.

September 17 marked the 143d anniversary of the signing of the Constitution. Earnest drys say the wets are trying to destroy the Constitution."

The anti-drys say that cutting a cancer out of a man isn't destroying, it's saving him, and the Eighteenth Amendment, cause of our crime wave, needs cutting out.

There will be interesting wet-dry fights in all elections for years to come.

A few months ago, to talk of changing the prohibition law seemed foolish. It is still foolish to talk of repealing the Eighteenth Amendment. There will always be 17 states to vote against repeal, enough to prevent it.

But there is no knowing what other changes may be made, although we probably shall have the worst, which would be to keep the law, ignoring it, letting bootleggers do their worst, putting the public on a permanent bootleg beverage basis.

Crime becomes ever more efficiently organized.

A gang of automobile thieves, alleged by the government to be managed by a distinguished criminal, formerly of Chicago, takes orders through regular salesmen for any car you want.

They explain that some cars were ordered for shipment to Russia, and the shipment refused.

You give your order for a fine car at half price. They steal the car and deliver it. It costs $50, as a bribe, to arrange for license plate changes.

Chicago's police, in the fight against racketeers, raided 10 labor union offices. Papers seized show the determination of racketeer gangs to "muscle" into reputable labor groups, and control them.

Fortunately, union labor, as a whole, is free, thus far, from any racketeering taint.

But union-racketeering does exist, on a gigantic and dangerous scale. The welfare of the unions demand that it be stamped out.

"Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you."

James, "a servant of God," wrote that in the beginning of his fifth chapter rebuking the rich that treated workers unjustly.

The weeping and howling words can be borrowed now in connection with the news published by the Veterans' Bureau. With a year 156,000, not now on any pension list, will be drawing money from the govern-

CODE PICKED OUT AFTER WEEKS OF TESTING

New Bedford, Sept. 19—Government interception of short wave radio messages in code passing between a powerful unlicensed station and [illegible] Rum Row, resulted in the [illegible] one of the station's operators, of this man.

Federal authorities raided the home of Joseph Travers in McGurk st., in the South Cove, arresting him and Manuel Carpenter on a John Doe warrant. Both are charged with violation of the prohibition law.

In the house the federal authorities, Carlos Bernstein, Boston department of justice agent, and Deputy Marshal Walter Hallargeon, found an elaborate short wave broadcasting and receiving set.

This was seized and placed aboard a coast guard boat to be taken to the Woods Hole base.

MANY CODES PICKED UP

The raid following a long investigation by the government agents after government radio operators had reported listening in on code messages exchanged between some secret station near here and rum ships lying outside the limit awaiting opportunity to land their cargoes.

The "cove section," near Dartmouth, has been the scene of many rum-running expeditions.

The station is understood to have been the communication office for the rum ring whose 14 agents and $50,000 liquor trap fell into the hands of federal agents at Narragansett, R. I., yesterday.

That seizure and information obtained from one of those arrested expedited the Government's probe already under way into the wireless messages.

SEEKING OTHER STATIONS.

Following their arrest, Travers and Carpetner were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner George E. Lilley and held in $4000 bail each for hearing Sept. 20.

Other alleged leaders in the ring, said to have branches throughout southern New England, will be taken into custody in a short time, the federal agents announced.

LOSE IN FIRST AUTO RATE TILT

The Supreme Court today refused to review the tentative schedule of 1931 compulsory auto insurance rates as announced by Insurance Commissioner Merton L. Brown.

Another petition for a review will be filed with the court as soon as Brown issues his final schedule, which was expected today.

Judge William C. Wait of the Supreme Court, in rejecting the first petition, filed by Atty. Samuel G. Thorner, ruled it had no standing inasmuch as the insurance commissioner had announced nothing but a tentative schedule.

A representative of Atty. Thorner was carefully watching proceedings in Commissioner Brown's office today, awaiting the definite rate schedule, and as soon as it appeared Thorner was to file his second petition for review.

The new schedule is expected to contain some reductions, especially for Boston, Chelsea, and Revere, from the high rates proposed for these communities in the tentative schedule.

Roger Clapp, assistant attorney-general, represented Commissioner Brown at the Supreme Court hearing. Atty. Frank Murray of the office of J. Weston Allen, former attorney-general, was assigned by Allen today to co-operate with Thorner in his action in behalf of the car owners of the state.

BOY FIGHTS FOR LIFE, BUT DIES

Gasping out rescue directions to firemen in the few moments he remained conscious, Nathan Wittenberg, 22, of Leston st., Dorchester, died today while trapped between an elevator and the fifth floor of the building at 35 Kneeland st.

Wittenberg, employed by a concern on the fourth floor only since last Tuesday, sustained a crushed chest and, according to surgeons, was probably dead when taken from the elevator.

He was conscious when Rescue Co. No. 1 and the crew of Ladder 17 arrived at the building ant, with white face, he told them where he was caught.

"You've got to hurry, fellows," he said. "Start here."

Then he lapsed into unconsciousness and died.

The firemen worked a quarter of an hour before they could free the youth. He was rushed to City Hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

He made his home with his widowed mother.

Doylestown, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—William Davis, 11 years old, of Philadelphia, was placed on trial in Bucks County court today on a charge of murder.

The boy is accused of killing Stanley Piesky, 9, of Hilltown, August 1, shooting him through the head.

Thirty racketeers captured New Jersey brewery. They were defeated by army of 40 prohibition agents. America thirsts for news of the Battle of the Suds. Nobody killed, nobody wounded. Everybody missing.

This war was by invitation only. Over 240,000 gallons of beer were poured into the river so the fish should taste pretty good today.

FEAR HOOVER'S PLAN TO INVOLVE U. S. IN LEAGUE IS DOOMED

EUROPE SEES CUBA'S ACT AS PERIL

Will Stiffen Opposition Here as It "Shows Up" Scheme, Europeans Believe

Geneva, Sept. 19 (AP)—Noel Baker, British spokesman, told the League of Nations assembly committee today that efforts of the Hoover administration to place the United States in the World Court might be embarrassed seriously by Cuba's opposition to the protocol for a revision of the court statute affecting the term of court sessions.

Professor Baker called attention to a letter of Secretary of State Stimson to President Hoover which asserted American interests before the World Court as regards advisory opinions would be safeguarded by a special provision in the revised statute as well as by the Root formula which is embodied in the protocol.

Under pressure of Prof. Baker's declaration and further insistance by the French and Belgian delegations, it was understood today that the Cuban delegation would collaborate in bringing the protocol immediately into effect. But it was by no means certain that the Cuban government would be willing to abandon its opposition.

The intricate puzzle of what to do in the situation created by Cuba's opposition was not, however, completely cleared. Cuba maintained that entering into effect of the protocol affecting the number and status of judges was against her interests.

Both Prof. Baker and Rene Cassin, of France, emphasized today that the World Court situation is in a "terrible muddle" and that Cuba's insistence under her rights to prevent the protocol of revision coming into effect is "the last of the protocol itself."

According to the French expert, it is also the "last of the adhesion of the United States to the statutes of the court."

The assembly committee today received the acceptance of his election to the world bench of Frank B. Kellogg, former United States Secretary of State.

Italy Battles the League

"Opium Bloc"; Asks Parley

Geneva, Sept. 19—Italy went on the warpath within the League of Nations yesterday against the league's most powerful "opium bloc."

Italy registered a vigorous protest on behalf of the victimized nations against the well-oiled plans of the "opium bloc" to control the League's international conference to limit manufacture of narcotics.

The Italian delegate, Senator Vittoria Scialoja, demanded that the League free itself from domination by the "opium bloc" and plan immediately for the international conference so often postponed.

Upon the authorization of the League council, invitations have been issued to the nations of the world, including the United States, to attend the conference on May 27, 1931, in Geneva.

Fitzmaurice Tangled in Immigration Tape

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—Col. James Fitzmaurice had a fresh reason today to be glad he flew the North Atlantic with Ilcehi and Von Huenfeld in the airplane Bremen.

The colonel was detained by immigration authorities when he returned from Europe yesterday, but "in recognition of his brilliant achievement" he was admitted and paroled in his own custody.

Fitzmaurice had been in this country since last fall, on a no-quota visitor's passport extended until October 22. The extension was automatically cancelled when he left a few weeks ago for a European visit.

Sills Burial Place Today Kept Secret

Los Angeles, Sept. 19 (AP)—Unusual secrecy shrouded arrangements for the funeral of Milton Sills, film star, here today. To insure a strictly private service the scene of the final rites was not disclosed.

Close friends would say only that the services would be at the home of a friend. Final decision as to Sills' burial place, they said, rested with Clarence Sills, Chicago banker, brother of the actor.

standing, but the Medford man resigned in the middle of his term in 1919. That was during the administration of Governor Coolidge. This is the sixth attempt made by him in the primaries to re-establish himself.

When Burrell resigned, James Jackson was drafted by Coolidge to fill out his unexpired term.

There was some talk among Republicans today of asking Coolidge to again take a hand.

HAIGIS MENTIONED.

Other Republican leaders came forward with the suggestion that John W. Haigis of Greenfield, present state treasurer, and one of the most popular officials at the State House, permit his name to be used as a sticker candidate in the November election.

Haigis could have had the Republican nomination at Tuesday's election for the asking. He announced, however, that he did not care for the office for another term.

Republican leaders today are urging that Haigis permit his name to be used as a patriotic duty to his party.

Henry J. Sullivan of South Boston, defeated for the Democratic nomination for Governor's Council, also asked for a recount, charging discrepancies in the vote in Charlestown.

Sullivan was defeated by James H. Brennan of Charlestown by more than 600 votes. He said he would run on stickers if the recount were against him.

From Republican headquarters came the announcement that the keynote address at the meeting of the Republican State committee in Symphony Hall, on September 27, would be delivered by United States Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio.

'Mother' Jones Takes Change for Better

Love-Hungry Princess, 73, Again a Bride

London, Sept. 19 (AP)—Princess Marie Charlotte Constance de Broglie, aged 73, was married to Prince Louis Ferdinand d'Orleans, 42, Bourbon Infants of Spain and cousin of King Alfonso, in the London registry office today.

The bride, who is the widow of Prince Amedee de Broglie, recently was victorious in the French courts when her relatives sought to prevent her marriage on the grounds of the disparity in ages.

At that time the princess declared:

"I am not insane simply because I am in love. I am not a silly, sentimental girl. I know my own heart. I want a little happiness before I die."

The princess once reported engaged to Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, one-time Broadway beauty, is said to have broken with her early this year, at which time Mrs. Corey left her chateau near Versailles and took an apartment in Paris.

It was made known that the couple intend to leave England tonight for Switzerland, where, after a honeymoon, they will motor to San Remo. There the bridegroom's mother has made ready a modest house for them to live in.

The prince said that perhaps they would have a religious ceremony later in Italy.

Regarding himself the bridegroom said:

"My attachment for the princess goes back to my boyhood days. The difference in our ages is our own affair. And it is our own romance. We are fond of each other."

Patrolman Gets Grapefruit in Neck

Patrolman John Meehan of Station 1 would rather be hit by a grape than by a grapefruit, but in the market district, it seems, one has no choice. He got the grapefruit.

At a sidewalk stall today Meehan admonished Louis Wolf, a salesman, for throwing grapes. Wolf said he threw a grape to accost a sleepy salesman. Meehan said there had been a lot of complaints of grapes, ripe tomatoes and the like being thrown around the district. Wolf said he knew the law and Meehan said they'd make a test case of it.

He escorted Wolf across Commercial st. toward the station. Then half a grapefruit came sailing and hit the officer in the back of the neck.

In court Judge Zotolli agreed it might be worse to be hit by half a juicy grapefruit than by a whole one. He fined Wolf $5 for throwing the grape, and Wolf appealed. Meehan is hunting for the grapefruit tosser.

N. H. BANK HEAD FINDS HE CAN BE OUSTED

Governor Has Power to Remove Dole; Hale Is Held in $25,000 Bail

Concord, N. H., Sept. 19—The refusal of State Bank Commissioner Arthur E. Dole to resign, in belief that his removal would necessitate a legislative act, went for naught today when it was discovered the governor had removal power.

Dole's resignation was demanded for his connection with handling funds of the Merrimac Savings Bank at Manchester, which is now being liquidated, with $11,000,000 tied up.

A search of the statutes today revealed that in 1925, when the three-man bank commission was shelved for one commissioner, the statute was changed to give the governor removal power.

The revised statute reads that the governor may, after a hearing, remove the bank commissioner, or deputy commissioner, at any time for inefficiency, neglect of duty or malfeasance in office.

Governor Charles W. Tobey today said he would have to consider the matter further.

Dole declined to comment. For many years he was one of the closest friends of Arthur H. Hale, indicted official of the bank.

Pasadena, Cal., Sept. 19 (AP)—Dr. Roscoe Pound, member of President Hoover's law enforcement commission and dean of the Harvard Law School, told the State Bar Association convention last night that federal enforcement of the prohibition laws and the stamping out of organized crime would convert the government of the United States into a federal bureaucracy, unless there were federal co-operation between all law-enforcement agencies.

Dr. Pound said unless district attorneys, deputy sheriffs, police and federal investigators could reconcile their differences and develop teamwork, the result would be fatal to local self-government.

TATTERSALL, J. J., of Newburyport, fireman.

CAHILL, Matthew, Newburyport business man, and passenger on the derailed express train, injured about the back.

Traveling at more than 50 miles an hour, the express train crashed into the truck on which was being carried more than a thousand live chickens.

The truck was owned by Barnet Cohen of 603 Eastern Ave., Malden, who conducts an express business.

The unidentified dead man is believed to have been given a "lift" by Rothstein. He was about 38 and his left leg was deformed. On his arms were several tattoo marks and in his clothing, of poor quality, only a box of matches, cigarette papers and some shoemaker's tacks were found.

According to John F. Watts, the crossing watchman, he carried two lanterns to the crossing as the express train approached. He declares he saw the truck approaching and when the driver failed to halt on seeing the red lantern he blew loudly on a police whistle to attract the drivers attention.

Two Meet Death as Train Crushes Truck

METAL 'LUNG' SAVES LIFE

Chicago, Sept. 18 (AP)—For seven days Frances McGann of Altona, Ill., a student nurse in a Chicago hospital, has been thanking a steel and aluminum "lung" for her life.

Her breathing muscles numbed by infantile paralysis Sept. 11, she was sinking rapidly when physicians placed her in a respirator which has made her lungs perform their natural function—made them draw in the breath of life and exhale it. The respirator incloses all her body, except her head, which rests on a pillow outside. A rubber diaphragm fits closely around her neck and prevents leakage outside.

A rubber diaphragm fits closely around her neck and prevents leakage of the compressed air introduced into and withdrawn from the cabinet. Only the hum of an electric motor reveals that the mechanical lung is a machine and operating.

Vacuum and pressure and attendants, looking through glass windows, watch the easy breathing of their patient.

Physicians said Miss McGann would have died last Friday if she had not been placed in the respirator. Today they said she has a good chance to recover.

Mr. Ford told them he was merely a tourist. Later he explained he learned the German language from German workers on his father's farm.

Former Follies Queen to Fight Paris Divorce

New York, Sept. 19—Gloria Gray, glorified in the Follies of 1926, is not the girl to sit idly by and permit her third husband to get away with a Paris divorce.

Yesterday Miss Grey retained attorneys to bring a separation action here to circumvent the Paris suit of Capt. Harry J. Wolcher.

The brief marital venture which started a year ago and ended last February was a stormy one. She had him arrested last spring on a charge of making numerous visits to the hotel, scaring away her customers, and threatening to ruin her blonde beauty with acid.

Furthermore, she said yesterday, the gay aviator pawned her jewelry twice.

THIS IS PART OF the evidence Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican senatorial nominee, presented to support her charge that employes of the Nye Senate committee, investigating her campaign, "have been guilty of the crime of wire tapping." In one of the pictures the arrow indicates how tap on the McCormick wires connects with wires leading into deserted house. The tap is enlarged in above photo, in which Earl Dannenberg shows John Grimes, managing editor of Mrs. McCormick's Rockford Republic, how the tapped wires came into the deserted house. Tentatively the committee has refused to admit the spying photographic evidence.

Carroll J. Swan, chairman of the Convention Corporation, invited the listeners to come to Boston for the convention in October.

FATAL PLANE CRASH BARES MARRIAGE

Girl Pilot Left Instructions for Own Funeral in Messages to Kin

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 19 (US)—Ruth Alexander, the pretty manicurist who left a Coronado beauty salon to become one of the greatest women aviators, had a vivid premonition of the death she met bravely when her plane crashed at Point Loma yesterday.

Three notes found in her hotel room revealed her undreaded premonition and disclosed for the first time her romantic secret marriage to Robert A. Elliott, navy reserve pilot, who helped teach her to fly.

Beside the wedding certificate which showed they had been married June 21 at Yuma, Ariz., was a note weighted down by her wedding ring and addressed to "My Husband Bob."

"Life is strange, honey," it read. "If I have preceded you, do not grieve for me. Be content as I am content. Finish your work down here and make me proud of you so I ever will be at your side. And when you come I will welcome you. Always I will love you and wait for you. And, sweetheart, keep my wedding ring always on you."

Elliott, attached to the U. S. S. Saratoga, was notified of his wife's death and is expected to take charge of the body for funeral.

In another note Miss Alexander gave complete directions for her funeral.

"I want to be dressed in comfortable, pretty night clothes," she wrote. "I want to be placed on my side in a comfortable sleeping position—my body will have to lie there a long time and I want it to be comfortable while I am going on.

"I want to be placed where there are trees and sunshine and grass. I wish no long funeral sermon. In my scrapbook is a poem marked with ink and if my wish is observed I will be put away only by my closest friends, a song shall be sung, this poem read, and that is all."

FAMILY IN KANSAS

All notes were near a piece of paper on which she had written: "To be opened only in event of my death."

Miss Alexander's 90 horsepower low-winged monoplane crashed 13 minutes after she had taken off from Lindbergh Field here for a one-stop flight to New York. The plane plunged into a hillside about three miles from the field, killing her instantly.

Miss Alexander took off with 117 gallons of gasoline, enough to last until she reached Wichita, Kans., where she was to have been met by her father, mother and brother.

Miss Alexander was holder of the world's altitude record for women, which she established in San Diego July 11 when she climbed 26,600 feet. She fainted at the top of this flight but recovered in time to come down safely. She also distinguished herself when she made a non-stop flight from Vancouver, B. C., to Agua Caliente, Baja, Cal., September 1 in 13 hours and 55½ minutes.

Her marriage to Elliott was unknown even to her most intimate friends.

Two 15-year-old boys, Vincent Lanius Eaton, of New York, and Herbert Crook, Jr., of Kenosha, Wis., entered Harvard College today as the 295th freshman class registered at Memorial Hall.

Registrants numbered approximately 1000, the university authorities having been forced to reject the applications of nearly that many more who had satisfied the requirements for admission.

From Capetown, South Africa, came Maurice E. Bothner, 20, son of the Swiss consul there, and from Kojimachi, Japan, came Gordon L. Jorgensen, 18, to capture the honors for traveling the farthest to enter the historic portals.

Conferences with faculty advisers, consultation with representatives of student advisory committee, and language examinations will consume the rest of the day. At 7:30 p. m., an informal meeting of new students will be held in the living room of the Harvard Union, William J. Bingham, director of athletics, Arnold Horween, head football coach, and Benjamin H. Dickinson, captain of the football team, will speak.

LIGGETT'S SON FINED $100

Leigh B. Liggett of Newton, son of Louis K. Liggett, millionaire chain store proprietor and Republican national committeeman, paid a $100 fine for drunken driving following a semi-private hearing in Quincy District Court today. He was also found guilty of drunkenness, but that charge was placed on file.

Patrolman James J. Sullivan, Jr., of Cohasset, who arrested Liggett in his automobile last week after two motorists had complained of him, was the only witness.

Liggett's waived reading of the complaints and Sullivan gave his testimony to Judge Albert Avery in such a low voice that it was not audible to anyone else in the court room.

Liggett sat on a front bench as the case, first on the docket was heard. The courtroom was crowded Liggett's attorney, Fred Katzmann, former Norfolk County district attorney stood at the bench as Sullivan gave his evidence. Liggett did not take the stand.

When arrested, police said, Liggett was assisted to a cell by Sullivan and Chief Victor Pelletier. He was booked later. Five hours after his arrest he was released when his wife, notified at their Scituate summer home, but up as surety for his appearance in court title to their $125,000 Chestnut Hill home. This home was a wedding gift to Liggett from his father in 1923.

HOOVER LAUDS RECORD OF JEWRY

President Joins With Other Officials in New Year's Felicitations to Jews of Nation

In connection with the Hebrew new year which begins at sundown Monday, messages from President Hoover and other officials lauding the contributions of the Jews to civilization were made public today by Alexander Brin, of Boston, editor and publisher of the Jewish Advocate.

More than 250,000 Jews in Massachusetts will participate in the rites which will usher in the New Year, which is the year 5691 in the Hebrew calendar.

The observance has a special significance this year, as the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary celebration coincides with the 270th anniversary of the landing of Jewish pilgrims in this country.

GOOD WILL GREETINGS

Besides President Hoover, others who sent congratulatory messages include Governor Allen, Mayor Curley, William M. Butler, Gaspar G. Bacon, president of the Massachusetts senate, Secretary of Labor Davis, Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, and the Governors of the other New England states.

"I send my cordial greetings to those loyal and devout Jews who are about to celebrate Rosh Hashonah," wrote President Hoover. "The Jewish races has made numberless invaluable contributions to the progress of humanity, but none so precious as their contribution to the spiritual life of mankind.

"Their fellow citizens of every race and creed share in extending to them the greetings of good will and good wishes on the Jewish New Year."

Governor Allen wrote:

"Since the Jews first came to these shores, and history numbers them among the earliest settlers, they have in every branch of human endeavor left records of discoveries and achievements of immeasurable value.

"When we consider the noble and disinterested devotion with which the cause of the colonists in the American Revolution was aided by the Jews, when we contemplate the services which this remarkable race has rendered to science, philanthropy, education, art, politics, jurisprudence, in fact to every known profession and branch of learning, we begin to realize how much America owes to the undaunted spirit and God-given talents of the Jews."

BOSTON INDEBTED

Mayor Curley's message, in part, was as follows:

"The city of Boston is deeply indebted for the activities of the Jewish community, who during many years past have been such a potential factor in the economic, commercial, industrial and civic life of our municipality.

"It is indeed a privilege as mayor of Boston to welcome the dawn of the Jewish calendar year 5691. I shall issue an executive order to the heads of all departments of the city to refrain from duty employes of the Jewish community both upon the occasion of the Jewish New Year and the Day of Atonement."

'Titusville Mayor' Injured in Crash

Frees Wife Who Sold Lottery Tickets to Support Family

The statement that she sold lottery tickets to support a sick husband and six children won leniency in court today for Mrs. Concetta Paradi, 34, of Haynes st., East Boston.

Arrested by Officers John T. Hennedeerry and Charles Schofield, Mrs. Paradi was arraigned in East Boston court on charges of possessing and setting up for sale lottery tickets.

Judge Brown fined her $50, but on the statement that her husband is unable to work because of heart trouble, he suspended the fine and filed the case.

Not Even the Glass Was Cracked

NYE THROUGH IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Sept. 19 (US) — The Nye campaign fund investigating committee ended today its harassed inquiry into the primary campaign expenditures of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, at least until after election and buckled up their brief cases with an air of relief that the ordeal was over.

This week's sessions have been surcharged with accusations of wire-tapping, house-breaking, attempted bribery and other acts of espionage.

The sessions have developed little which was not already known, namely that Mrs. McCormick spent approximately $217,000 in her primary campaign. The impression gained at the adjournment was that the candidate, if she is censured, will be censured for the amount she spent, rather than for the manner in which it was spent.

German Navy Ends Fall War Maneuvers

Wilhelmshaven, Germany, Sept. 19 (AP)—Germany's small post-war navy today concluded its fall maneuvers in the German bight. A new feature this year was that the three squadron commanders were required to act upon their own initiative when they received sham messages stating that a war had broken out.

DRIVER UNHURT AS AUTO TIPS

This is the story of an acrobatic automobile an da girl tourist whose news sense and nimble camera both clicked in time to show results.

Moses Paronian, of 14 Union st., Lowell, was motoring home from Billerica yesterday with his week's marketing. Suddenly a car driven by a speeder, who got away without being identified, came tearing along the highway.

Paronian's car was in its path. Giving it the gas, Paronian managed to swerve clear, but turned so sharply that his car turned turtle, resting on the roadway, top down, and wheels spinning.

Paronian was not even scratched nor was a bit of glass broken in his car. He was showered with fruit and vegetables, and was held prisoner until bystanders extricated him, smashing the glass in a door. In the nick of time along came Miss Rayebelle Boyd, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., on a motor trip and she snapped the upset car.

When he returns, the mayor will prepare for an extensive speaking tour in support of the Democratic ticket.

Waits All Summer for Chance to Ride; Dies on First Day Out

New York, Sept. 19 (AP)—All summer the Schuler family vacation had been postponed because Mrs. Mary Schuler, 49, was nervous about driving on crowded roads.

With the heavy traffic over, they set out this morning. A little way from their home in Jamaica another car crashed into the Schuler machine. The impact was slight, but the shock killed Mrs. Schuler. Her husband and two children were slightly injured.

Naples Joyful as Blood of St. Januarius Boils

Naples, Sept. 19 (AP)—The phenomenon of the boiling up of the blood of St. Januarius, in its receptacle in the Cappella Del Tesoro Cathedral occurred this forenoon, with all Naples' churchbells ringing and the people shouting with joy.

The occurrence, for which science has provided in the past no explanation, came at 9:45 a. m., while a tremendous throng filled the cathedral chanting prayers for the supposed miracle.

The phenomenon occurs generally at stated periods. When it fails to materialize the people of Naples fear a new eruption of Vesuvius is coming or that an earthquake, plague or other calamity impends. Its materialization today was taken as an omen that shocks like that of July 23 or cyclones like that of Aug. 14 will be spared to that city for a considerable time.

SOMEHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

The great parade is over. Everyone is pleased with it. The Chinese certainly put up a good unique show. Everyone in the parade appeared to an advantage. It was a great sendoff for Boston. Mayor Curley was surely on the job and covered every corner of interest.

After making our bow to all that was done by everyone to make this historical occasion a success, what's next? What's the aftermath? Why, it is right here, keep booming the interests of Boston!

The Buy Now Club is still doing business. Any new venture that Boston starts and makes a noise is surely heard around the world.

Keep active in the promotion of trade. Keep optimistic as the tide is now turning toward increased prosperity. "Screw your courage up to the sticking point" a la mode Shakespeare.

Decries Many Attempts To Change Names

Editor Boston American:

The tendency on the part of newcomers to this country to change their names to one having a more euphonious sound to native ears, is a mistake.

There is a well beaten path to probate courts in not a few cities with this intention in view on the part of many newcomers.

No one should change their names for the sake of drumming up more trade. It is what you are doing, not your name that you should be ashamed of.

Boston was first called Shawmut, but some men came along expecting to draw more out of a man who came from Boston, Eng. They did get something. Boston should to this day be called Shawmut along the same line that this state is called Massachusetts. Both Shawmut and Massachusetts are Indian names. We retain the name of the state, but have dropped the name Shawmut. From a historical point of view, this has been a mistake. Never go back on your name and your name will not go back on you.

How Many Followed Pres. Lowell's Advice?

Editor Boston American:

It is now nearly a year ago (October, 1929) that Harvard Law school students received the shock of their lives.

They were being addressed by four speakers, among them being President A. Lawrence Lowell of the university, and Dean Roscoe Pound of the Law school.

They were told then: "Don't work too hard."

Silence followed this unexpected advice. Then a titter developed until a roar of laughter ripened and ended by tremendous applause.

I would like to know how many of these would-be solons followed this advice, now that one year has passed since this was first sprung. I have an object in asking this, which I will reveal after getting facts.

Time Now for Men to Rebel Against Dress

Editor Boston American:

It is about time for men to rebel against the way that they have to dress in order to appear respectable, so called. I would like to be a member of the Men's Reform Party, if it is formed in this country as it has been formed in England.

It ought not to be the fashion for men to appear in public encased in wool and starch. Every stiff collar is a badge of the servitude of man.

This is not an ad for any kind of collar but it is sounding the tocsin that men need more freedom in dressing up for special occasions.

I am not going to tell what men should wear in detail, but I am advocating a general reform in men's make up.

Points Out Humorous End Of Prohibition Argument

Editor Boston American:

Prohibition often has its humorous side. This was instanced a few days ago when a Baptist minister was arguing strenuously in one of the offices of Tremont Temple on the great need of prohibition and the blessings it conferred upon the average person.

Unconsciously, in arguing with the "Wet," he sat on some fly paper on the chair. He was so heated by the discussion that he never looked. His opponent taking in the situation laughed at the minister, but let him leave the office without saying a word about what he was taking with him. The pastor found it out afterward on Tremont st. and sought an alley for diminishing the attraction of the fly paper.

Student Thinks Traffic Lights Make Jay-Walkers

Editor Boston American:

Traffic lights make jay-walkers. This is not a flighty remark. It has more back of it than one can explain in this letter. Traffic lights with traffic officers standing by prevent jay walkers.

Traffic lights in congested parts of Boston are too mechanical. You might just as well try to run a boat without a pilot as to make traffic lights do the trick in the narrow congested streets of Boston.

These lights act to better advantage in wide areas. They were never meant for Boston cow paths, for many of the older streets in Boston have this origin.

All this is said after witnessing carefully for over two weeks complicating observations in old Boston. Traffic lights need a nurse to attend them or they will keep sending more people to the hospitals.

Cites Facts to Prove 'Drunks' Are Plentiful

Editor Boston American:

In today's American, N. H. Hutchins says there are few drunks since prohibition.

In the same edition on different page I read:

September 1 week-end it was reported the number was above 300.

Star-Gazing Ghost Romps on Roofs

Keeps Women in a State of Nerves Until Detective Gets Sheet

New York, Sept. 19—All the ghosts that have been keeping the nervous burghers of Williamsburg in a state of nerves for the last fortnight were captured yesterday. They proved to be Robert Kublink, 25 of 72 Lee ave., who wore a white robe and carried a pair of high powered field glasses.

He looked not in the least like a ghost when arraigned before Magistrate Hirshfield.

"I'm an astronomer. I was seeing stars," he said.

The detective lurked behind a chimney until he saw the sheeted wraith. He gave chase and the wraith slipped the sheet and also slipped down the scuttel of 156 Wilson st., nearly knocking over Benjamin Cronweiss.

Magistrate Hirshfield held the specter for disorderly conduct.

2 POLICE SHOT BY BURGLARS

Patrolman Arncid A. Schulze was shot in the right wrist, and a second bullet grazed his chest over the heart. Patrolman Wilbur Simpson received a slight finger wound.

MISSING JUDGE CRATER SEEN IN HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 19—Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Crater of New York, mysteriously missing since August 5, was definitely placed in this vicinity today by a barber and shoe shop proprietor, who identified him from descriptions and pictures.

A "tip" received previously by authorities in New York, where the mystery is the subject of Grand Jury investigation, started inquiry here, and as a result of the identification today, intensive search has been launched throughout the province.

Nova Scotian police and provincial constabularies are co-operating in the hunt and circulars bearing Justice Crater's description and photograph are being widely distributed.

Halifax police learned from A. W. Eulaith, a barber at the Hotel Nova Scotian, that the New York jurist sat in his chair for a shave and massage Wednesday morning. Eulaith said he was sure of his identification from photographs and descriptions.

Samuel Webber, proprietor of the Capitol Shoe Store in Sackville st., also recognized pictures of Judge Crater as those of a man who visited his shop on several occasions about five weeks ago for cigars and shoe shines. Employes of Webber's also recognized the photographs.

Eulaith said he got a generous tip from the man he believes was Judge Crater. He described him in detail and said he appeared to be in good health, although his face was pale. He left the hotel in a taxicab.

New $10,000 Ransom Demand for Crater

New York, Sept. 19 (INS)—Another ransom letter demanding $10,000 for the return of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater today added one more angle to be investigated in the search already baffling because of countless "clues."

The letter, mailed in Detroit to Mrs. Crater at 40 Fifth ave., was found at the apartment by police who obtained Mrs. Crater's permission to open it and others.

According to Commissioner Mulrooney it was signed "The 4" and demanded $10,000 for Crater, who "is well and with some people in Detroit."

Greetings From Mayor

AN INTERESTING TOUCH in connection with the 44th anniversary celebration of Sears, Roebuck & Co., was a gathering at the retail branch on Massachusetts ave., near Porter sq., Cambridge. Here we see Mayor Richard M. Russell of Cambridge (left) shaking hand of the manager, James J. Breen. Executives and members of the firm are in the group.

SEARS ROEBUCK OBSERVE 44TH ANNIVERSARY

Taking cognizance of the 44th anniversary celebration of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Mayor Richard M. Russell of Cambridge visited the big store on Massachusetts ave., in that city, yesterday to congratulate the manager, James J. Breen.

Later in the day President Joseph Aisberg of the Cambridge Industrial Association paid Manager Breen a visit.

The anniversary is being observed at both the Cambridge and Boston stores with attractive offerings of special values in merchandise.

From a small beginning in 1886 he concern has grown to have 38,000 employes and 12,000,000 customers and last year had gross sales of $443,452,640.

Richard W. Sears founded the company at North Redwood, Minn., as a small railroad station where he was agent. He wrote letters to prospective customers and sold watches by mail.

He became Sears, Roebuck & Co., and in 1895, when Roebuck retired, Julius Rosenwald succeeded him and became a vital factor in the organization. In five years the sales increased from $50,000,000 to $141,000,000, and in 1906 a new era of national expansion was began, which has gone on steadily ever since, with the Boston plant the newest link in the vast enterprise.

YOUTH KNOWS WHO KILLED BROTHER

Brockton, Sept. 19—Brockton police today were convinced that George Khoury, 14, knows the men who killed his brother and seriously injured the boy himself in a store in North Montello st. late Wednesday, but is afraid to reveal their names.

The boy is recovering in Brockton Hospital from his injuries, which at first were believed fatal. He has not been told his brother, Benjamin, 24, is dead.

Police questioned the boy for several hours today. The only statement he would make was that the assailants were "from around the corner."

The store where the brothers are employed is in the heart of the crowded Bowery section and just around the corner is the notorious "Mad House," a speakeasy that has been raided many times by city and federal officers, who believe the slaying was the result of a bootleggers' feud.

Pee-Wee Car Waltzes Away to Plum Island Music

Newburyport, Sept. 19—Richard A. Noyes isn't the chap who stuck out his hand to signal that he was going to turn—and two of them ran up his arm. He's a man who owns one, and he is a bit pettish about it all.

Noyes, who is an insurance man and a candidate for city council from Ward 4, left his pee-wee automobile outside the dance pavilion at Plum Island and went inside.

When he returned the car was missing. Investigation revealed that some scalawags had carried the baby car over the sand 100 yards and had deposited it at the water's edge.

Angrily, Noyes tucked his ear under his arm and carried it back to the road and buzzed away in it.

Los Angeles, Sept. 19 (AP)—Denial she hurled dishes and glassware, causing their ejection from a hotel in Agua Caliente, Mex., is made in the cross petition filed by Jocelyn Lee, screen actress, to the divorce action brought by Luther Reed, film director.

Reed charged his wife assailed him with tableware. Miss Lee said the disturbance was caused when Reed attempted to take money from her.

She charged he was addicted to the use of intoxicants and frequently beat her. She asks custody of all their community property, valued at $100,000.

Boy Sues City Fathers After Pin in Food Lands in Throat

Lowell, Sept. 19 (AP)—William Szybiak, 16, a high school student, today filed a claim against the city with the city solicitor for damages because, he said, there was an open safety pin in food served him at the school restaurant, recently.

The pin lodged in Szybiak's throat, he said, and was later removed at St. John's Hospital, after many hours labor by a physician.

CAUGHT BY HAND IN COP'S POCKET

At Boylston st. subway station, Monday night, James J. Donahue, of Westland ave., Back Bay, was contemplating returning home from the parade.

Patrolman Thomas F. A. Daley, in civilian attire, was one of the crowd. He felt a hand in his coat pocket and seized it. He followed it up and there was Donahue.

"What's the matter with you?" Donahue asked.

"Nothing; what's the matter with you?" asked Daley.

"Look out or you're liable to get me pinched," said Donahue.

"You're pinched already," said Daley.

"Six months for attempted larceny," said Judge Duff today. Donahue appealed.

Edison May Fly Some Day, But It's Got to Be Safe

Newark, N. J., Sept. 19 (AP)—Thomas A. Edison knows a lot about airplanes today, is eager to learn more, and may even fly in one if he can find a pilot who'll promise to do no barrel-rolling or outside loops.

At Mrs. Edison's insistence the inventor went with her to the Newark airport last night and talked for more than an hour with the director, Lieut. Richard Aldworth.

"What do you know about stunting?" Edison asked.

"It is forbidden, because of the transport business," the lieutenant replied.

"If a plane should lose its engine in flight, could it go safely to the ground?"

A mechanic worked a plane's controls to demonstrate the method.

"Five hundred feet."

"Why?"

"Because a parachute is slow to open."

Mr. Edison suggested one should be made to open instantaneously.

"How much is that ship worth?" he inquired, pointing to one. The answer was "forty-five hundred dollars."

"Too much," said the inventor.

Mrs. Edison asked Aldworth to try to make her husband fly and the inventor said he might go up some time "with an old-fashioned pilot."

Washington, Sept. 19—There is a miniature golf course to each 5000 population, probably 2,500,000 persons play the game daily and the annual income derived from this new form of sport is approximately $288,000,000, according to private commercial experts here today.

Before the end of the year it is expected there will be an increase of at least 10 per cent in miniature golf courses.

Miniature golf has assumed importance in the unemployment problem, experts estimating that about 100,000 persons work daily to keep the courses in operation.

ANDREE BODIES ABOARD SHIP FOR SWEDEN

Universal Service Special Cable

Tromsoe, Norway, Sept. 19—The remains of Salomon Auguste Andree, Dr. Nils Strindberg, and Knut Fraenkel will start their journey back to Stockholm aboard the Swedish cruiser Svensksund.

The commission of experts yesterday finished its examination of the bodies brought back from the Arctic by Dr. Gunnar Horn and the Hearst-Dagensnyheter expedition.

All three have now been definitely identified, but the experts were unable to decide which of the men was the first to die.

Dr. Hoel, Norwegian member of the commission, said:

"Nothing has been found to throw any light on how and from what the men perished on White Island. It is possible Andree's diary can give some light, but that is uncertain.

"That Strindberg was buried is certain since he lay under a heap of stones built by human hands.

"The theory that Fraenkel and Andree died at the same time because they were found side by side on the ice can not be certain. I knew an old Arctic skipper who once spent the winter on the ice lying beside a dead man and talking to him to keep up his own spirits and because he was unable to bury him."

AUTO MAY GIVE CLUE TO SLAYER

Kingston, Sept. 19 (AP)—State and local police today were investigating the finding of a stolen automobile in a swamp at Silver Lake in the belief that the theft might have some connection in the slaying, September 7, in Falmouth, of Clarence Parker, a chain store manager.

The automobile, the property of Stedman Butterick of Concord, who is now traveling in Europe, was stolen from the Back Bay, Boston, during the day of September 7. Parker was slain late that night near his home.

In the automobile police found New Bedford newspapers of September 10 and 11 which contained accounts of the Parker case. Pencil markings on pictures in the papers precipitated the theory that there might be a connection between the theft of the car and the slaying.

Mexican Privates Dine With Rubio

Mexico City, Sept. 19 (AP)—Generals and privates alike sat down with President Ortiz Rubio at Chapultepec Castle last night. The president played host to one soldier from each regiment brought to the capital for the independence day parade.

Society Play Horse, All Through, Is Killed

Evanston, Ill., Sept. 19 (AP)—The horse Holiday, which descended from the high estate of steeplechasing to the miserable chore of hauling a delivery wagon, has been put to death.

David Malloy of Lake Forest, who once paid $2000 for Holiday and rode him in many of the North Shore society gallops, recently sold him to a riding academy. Holiday, however, was unequal to the task of transporting portly dowagers in search of more svelte lines, and had to be sold to the humble purchaser of delivery service.

Malloy saw Holiday yesterday. Head high, but step uncertain, dragging the grocery wagon around town. He felt that such toil was unbecoming an animal which had hurdled hedges to the cheers of the very best people, so he bought Holiday, whispered some words to a policeman with a gun, and now Holiday is dead.

Indict 26 in Iowa Cattle Deal Swindle

Fairfield, Ia., Sept. 19 (AP)—Charges of conspiracy involving nearly $3,000,000 have been brought against 26 men indicted by the Jefferson County Grand Jury. The charges set forth that the men imported feeder cattle from southwestern ranges and resold them to Iowa buyers as pure bred native Iowa cattle.

GROSS CLEARED IN CHECK CASE

Solomon Gross of Winthrop was found not guilty of larceny in Lynn District Court today by Judge Kiley.

Judge Kiley found that the $100 received by Gross from Jacob Stroms of Lynn was a friendly loan and that the recipient acted in good faith in giving in return for Stroms's check for $100 a check of his own dated two weeks ahead.

Stroms testified that after he turned in Gross' check it came back marked "insufficient funds."

Believe the Typical Girl Editor when he informs you that selecting Typical Miss New England is no easy task. The job is taxing the ingenuity and ability of all the five judges and the Typical Girl Editor too.

MONDAY IS BIG DAY

Next Monday, 25 young women, the most fortunate of the group of entrants, will be summoned to Hotel Statler to be personally interviewed by the five judges who by the well known process of elimination may arrive at the one young woman who has the most of everything that is typically New England.

But first, the group will be entertained at luncheon as the guest of the Evening American and Loew's State Theater management. The girls will meet personally Joseph Brennan, managing director of the theater, an official of the Boston American and the Typical New England Girl Editor.

After luncheon the girls will be introduced to the judges. And then, the best of wishes and all the world's good luck will go from the Typical Girl Editor to the candidates.

Watch the Boston American daily for further revelations of the contest and its progress.

Tomorrow the Typical New England Girl Editor will print the list of 25 fortunate to be included in the finals, who will meet at the Hotel Statler at 12:30 p. m.

COURT HOLDS HINDU SEER

Prince Singh, billed in vaudeville as the Hindu prophet, was held for the grand jury by Judge Duff in municipal court yesterday on complaints charging him with selling hyperdermic needles and attacking Mrs. Helen Russo, blonde divorcee and police undercover worker.

The prince stood on the defendant's stand for nearly three hours listening to sensational testimony against him from the lips of Mrs. Russo.

Her testimony was admitted only after Judge Duff ordered the court room cleared.

She told the court that she visited Prince Singh in a Back Bay hotel several times and finally obtained the needles for $4.

The prince told the court that Mrs. Russo made a nuisance of herself by calling on him. He denied selling the needles.

Fruit Basis for Many Dishes

All too soon fall frosts put the quietus on the gorgeous fruits and vegetables that we are so blessed with now, so let's make the very most of them while we may. Balanced with perhaps some bacon slices or thin tender hamburg cakes, luncheons and even dinners can be chiefly fruits and vegetables. What could be more delicious, for instance, than a two-course luncheon, starting with fresh corn, with canned baked kidney beans, baked tomatoes, grilled bacon, hot rolls with currant or grape jelly, and pear and cream cheese salad with drop cookies?

Martha Lee

To prepare the main dish, the corn and kidney beans combination, mix 2 cups of fresh corn cut from the cob with 1 minced green pepper, ½ tsp. salt and 1 well-beaten egg, and 1 medium-sized can of baked kidney beans. Arrange this in a greased baking dish and top with a layer of grated cheese and a layer of fine buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven for about 25 minutes and serve with chili sauce.

LUSCIOUS BAKED TOMATOES

The baked tomatoes can be simply cut in half, covered with buttered crumbs on the cut surfaces, and topped with bacon slices and baked in a hot oven until the bacon is crisp. Or the tomatoes may be hollowed out and the tomato bits diced and mixed with rice, left-over meat, macaroni or what-have-you, and then topped with the bacon and baked until the bacon is crisp—about 45 minutes.

PEAR AND CREAM CHEESE

To give the pear and cream cheese salad a slightly different appearance, cut a large pear in half and hollow out the center. Fill with cream cheese blended with mayonnaise and lay the cut side down on a crisp lettuce leaf. Stick the top of the pear all over with salted almonds or peanuts, and serve with a boiled dressing diluted with whipped cream. Yum! Yum!

Another delicious luncheon menu is composed of cold cuts of meat, preferably lamb with mint jelly—I gave you the recipe for quick mint jelly recently, you remember—and a fresh tomato salad, the tomato salad being filled with chopped celery, nuts and mayonnaise dressing.

FOR THE PEACH PIE

For dessert, a fresh peach pie with ice cream or whipped cream will be luscious. To make the fresh peach pie, bake a crisp shell, slice ripe peaches, dredge with sugar and let stand one hour. Arrange the chilled fruit in the shell just before serving and top with whipped cream. Or fill the pie shell with one pint of vanilla ice cream and serve with diced peaches which have stood in sugar for one hour or more.

LOBSTER, SPANISH STYLE

In the two-course luncheon the main course might be lobster, Spanish style, with a mixed fruit salad on lettuce with mayonnaise, hot rolls with grape jelly, and rounds of sponge cake topped with peaches and whipped cream.

For the Spanish lobster, cut two cups of fresh cooked lobster meat in one-half inch pieces. Fry together in a pan with 2 tbsps. of butter, 1 small onion diced, and 1 green pepper, sliced. When slightly brown, add 1 small can of cream of tomato soup, 2 cupfuls of mushrooms, fresh or canned, a dash of pepper cause or Worcestershire and salt to taste. Place in casserole in moderate oven and heat through (about 20 minutes.

Nut bread with cheese and a fresh fruit salad makes a meal in itself, and for the 75th time this year, I believe, I'm going to repeat the never-fail recipe for Martha's nut bread.

MARTHA'S NUT BREAD

2 Cups graham flour.
1 Cup bread flour.
1 Level tsp. salt.
1 Level tsp. soda.
1 Cup milk.
1 Cup molasses.
1 Cup chopped walnut meats.

Mix dry ingredients, add molasses, milk, nuts. Bake in a moderate oven 45 minutes. Faithfully yours,

Martha Lee

For Cool September

A Tasty Dessert for Hot or Cold Weather

A welcome dessert for changeable September days is the Chocolate Cream Jelly. If the weather man has fooled you and produced a warm Indian summery day when you were promised clouds and a cool breeze, this versatile dessert will answer very well anyway. If the day is warm, what could be nicer than a jelly dessert from the ice box? If it turns out coolish, don't worry. Chocolate lines the eager tummy nicely and yields meltingly to the hungry spoon.

CHOCOLATE CREAM JELLY

1 tbsp. gelatine
¾ cup sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
1 cup scalded milk
1 cup cream
½ tsp. Vanilla
1 sq. unsweetened chocolate cut in pieces.

Combine gelatine, sugar and salt. Add chocolate to cold milk in double boiler and heat. When chocolate is melted, beat with Dover egg beater 1 minute, or until mixture is smooth and blended. I must take time out to tell you, in case you don't know, that heating the chocolate and milk together gives a smoother blend than adding the chocolate to the hot milk and then melting it, and vigorous beating with the egg beater makes a very smooth, creamy mixture, so be liberal with the "elbow grease!" To go back to our recipe—having beaten your milk and chocolate until nice, smooth and cool, add the gelatine mixture and stir until the gelatine is dissolved. Then add the cream and vanilla and chill. When slightly thickened, beat with the egg beater until like whipped cream. Put in mold and chill until firm. Serve with crushed fruit, chocolate sauce or maple nut sauce, or, if your diet can stand it, whipped cream.

HOW TO CLEANSE VELVET

To clean velvet, use a solution of two tbsp. ammonia and one-half pint of hot water; apply it to the velvet with a stiff brush and rub it well into the pile to take out all stains and creases. Then hold under side of velvet over a hot iron till steam raises the pile and it is well dried.

PINEAPPLE PICKLE

2 cans sliced pineapple.
3 cups sugar.
1½ tbsps. white vinegar.
¾ tbsp. whole cloves.
½ tbsp. whole mixed pickle spices.
2 tbsps. stick cinnamon.

Drain juice of pineapple into preserving kettle, add sugar, vinegar and spices and bring all to a boil. Add fruit carefully so as not to break it. Boil slowly and do not stir. Boil 2½ hours until syrup is thick and rich and fruit is clear and golden looking, like a preserve. When done, remove from fire and put each slice very carefully into wide-mouthed jars. Strain syrup and fruit. Pour paraffin over top and seal. MISS K. BYRNE.

Low Cost on Fruits for Canning

Of timely interest to the New England housewife is old Faneuil Hall Market, which is attracting so many visitors during the tercentenary celebration.

In 1634, only fours years after the founding of Boston, an order was passed by the Court of Assistants to erect a market on the spot where the Old State House now stands.

It was over a hundred years later, in 1740, that Peter Faneuil, from whom the market takes its name, gave to the City of Boston a public market with a meeting house overhead. This building was destroyed in 1761, and the city rebuilt the present Faneuil Hall. Marketing in the old days was not the pleasant, easy affair that it is today, and the 1930 Boston housewife should be thankful for her modern market facilities with all the ease of the telephone and quickly delivered orders, or the economical cash and carry system. Which brings us to today's report of best buys in the market.

Especially welcome just now is the news that vegetables are lower in price. Beans, cabbage, broccoli, celery, cucumbers, squash, tomatoes, in fact all your favorites are around 40 per cent lower this week, with the exception of potatoes, which shouldn't be too sad tidings for the would-be chins.

The favorite McIntosh apples have arrived and are selling for 30 to 60 cents a dozen. Lower later, we hope. All you canning ladies can now buy peaches, 16-quart baskets of natives for $1 to $1.25. Concord grapes, the favorite for jams and marmaiades, are selling at 2 quarts for 18 to 23 cents.

Meat prices remain about the same, with rump steak selling for 67 to 69 cents and a good top of the round for 45 to 49. Lamb and pork chops are about even, with lamb at 37 to 39 cents and pork 40c to 45c. About the best buy in the meat line is a boneless undercut roast at 35 cents a pound.

Egg prices are practically static, with Massachusetts specials selling 65 to 70 cents a dozen in nearby towns.

TO DRIVE NAIL IN WALL

To drive a nail in a wall without crumbling plaster, put nail in hot water for a few minutes, or dip it in melted paraffin; it can then be driven without damage to the wall.

Hoover Ready for War on Huge Mortgage Rates

Washington, Sept. 19 (US)—Preparing for a massed attack on huge second mortgage charges and other deterrents to home ownership, President Hoover soon will appoint a planning committee for his projected national conference on housing, it was learned today.

The planning committee, to be headed by Secretary of Commerce Lamont, will organize the national conference. It will also set up subcommittees throughout the country to study means of promoting both the building of homes and their ownership by the people who live in them.

20 PER CENT RATES

President Hoover feels that the high rates for second mortgages, widely used in home financing, tend to stifle home ownership. Counting in commissions, discounts and other more or less disguised charges, interest rates on these mortgages have risen in many cities to 20 or 25 per cent.

Due to these and other conditions there was so acute a shortage of capital during part of the business depression that home construction slumped sharply, even while the construction of public works was leaping forward, and while capital was available for other purposes.

This was not only a serious setback to home ownership, in the view of President Hoover and his advisors, but aggravated the depression by increasing unemployment in the building trades.

REVAMP LAWS

A sounder and less burdensome system of financing both construction and ownership of homes will be a chief objective of the conference. A revamping or state mortgage laws is one of the possible results.

Construction costs can be still further reduced, it is believed, as an added stimulus. Improvements in design are counted upon to further this. Improvement in the layout of residential areas is another important question.

1½ lbs. lean lamb. ¼ tsp. pepper.

Boil the macaroni for 9 minutes in 4 qts. rapidly boiling water to which 1 tbsp. salt has been added. Drain.

125,370 SPENT IN FIGHT ON DRY LAW

...ington, Sept. 19 (AP)—The tric... anti-prohibition drive for res...ional gains this year was who...ged today by F. Scott land ...superintendent of the ...n League, to have caused ...each...dition issue to be "more chaotic drawn than at any time Was coming."

M... same time the scope of reor... campaign was revealed to ... ...ent in reports of political expen...tures filed with the clerk of the House, which showed that so far in 1930 anti-prohibition organizations have spent $425,370. Dry forces reported spending only $9622.

"The antis have forced the issue in this campaign," McBride said. "It is a poor year for a wobbler."

Anti-prohibition collections were listed totaling $363,188. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment handled the bulk of the funds, collecting $332,839 and spending $388,392. Among the disbursements was listed $100,000 spent in Pennsylvania for the ticket headed by Thomas W. Phillips and Francis S. Bitlien in the Republican primary.

The drys reported more funds collected than spent. They took in $11,621. McBride's view of the primary results discounted heavily the anti claims to gains. He contended they had defeated "some seven or eight drys" for the House, while of the 29 new supporters claimed for prohibition repeal he said "20 have been for modification or some substitute for prohibition all the time," and of the others "a majority ha... never been counted in the dry estimate."

Ileana Wins Carol's Aid

By BARON GEORGE WRANGEL
Universal Service Special Cable

Paris, Sept. 19—The storm tossed romance of Princess Ileana, of Rumania, and Count Alexander of Hochberg, today seems headed toward a haven of marital happiness with no less a personage than King Carol, Ileana's brother, as pilot.

Among friends of the couple word now goes round the fashionable gathering places of Paris that the new Rumanian king looks on the romance with a kindlier eye than did Rumanian officialdom, who, prior to Carol's restoration, forced the breaking of Ileana's engagement to Alexander.

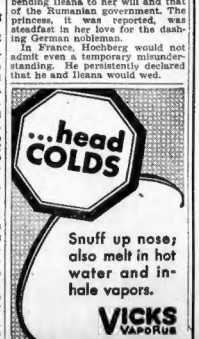
So, despite the official silence persisting in Bucharest, it is coming to be generally taken for granted that at some opportune moment the announcement of a reengagement will be made and that it will be followed by Ileana's marriage to the count.

Alexander has always denied that their original engagement last spring had been broken. From Pascharest, however, came official reports stating that just such was the case.

Shortly after the count journeyed to the Rumanian capital to plight his troth, Ileana was whisked off to Egypt by her mother, the Dowager Queen Marie.

Subsequent dispatches from Egypt declared that the Queen Mother was having a difficult time bending Ileana to her will and that of the Rumanian government. The princess, it was reported, was steadfast in her love for the dashing German nobleman.

In France, Hochberg would not admit even a temporary misunderstanding. He persistently declared that he and Ileana would wed.



Mayflower Is Christened

Springfield, Sept. 19—Ideal weather brought large crowds yesterday to the Eastern States Exposition. The Mayflower, half-size model of the original ship, made by Springfield Sea Scouts, was christened by Mrs. Dwight R. Winter. Mayor Winter was one of the principal speakers.

Thomas F. Keane, National Sea Scout director; Alex Mosher, chairman of the regional committee, and William F. Coolidge, a member of that committee, also spoke.

The craft is commanded by Thomas F. Daisch and has a crew of 24 Springfield boys. After the dedication the group was given a luncheon at the Nyasset Club.

Livestock judging continued in the Coliseum, where thoroughbred Holsteins, Ayrshires and bed short-horns were exhibited. Fully 100 dogs were benched in the dog show, which features this year field trial classes for hunting dogs.

State Club Manual Out Next Week

By NANCY BREWSTER

The much awaited state manual of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs makes its appearance next week, according to word from Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, State president.

And when it does one of the innovations will be the rearrangement of the listing of committees as to conform to General Federation arrangements.

Departments will hereafter signify the general grouping with subcommittees known as divisions. For instance, it will be the department of fine arts, including the divisions of art, music and literature.

The appointment of advisers to direct the activities of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs brings about this change.

Among the October district conferences of the Federation are these: 13th district at Barre, October 9; 11th district with the Littleton Woman's Club, October 22; second district with the Quincy Woman's Club October 29, and the first district with the Outlook Club of Falmouth, October 31.

For November these are scheduled: third district, Fall River Women's Club, November 7; fourth district, Dorchester Woman's Club, November 18; fifth district, Norwood Woman's Club, November 13; sixth district, Daughters of Massachusetts at the Hotel Statler, November 17; seventh district, Somerville Woman's Club, November 14.

These district conferences will take State chairmen and State officers on visits to all the clubwomen of the State in the continuous spread of Federation policies and principles.

Another course is that to be given by Miss Katherine N. Bickford of the Lincoln Field school, who is to talk on "Your Child." This lecture starts Oct. 7 also and will deal with the normal child from infancy to eight years and with its everyday existence. Such problems as concerns the child's obedience, habits, manners, questions, play and diet will be dicussed by the expert.

Chic Velvet and Chenille Toques

By ANN ARDEN

MODELS FROM CONRAD & CO.

HATS CLOSELY follow the grace and femininity of costumes, and velvet is an excellent choice by reason of its softness and adaptability to the lines of the small hat. Millinery adapts itself to the modern "romantic" era. Like every other fashion, the hat must suit the occasion for which it is worn and must blend harmoniously with the rest of the costume. Intricate seaming and tucking we have accepted as a factor in making the new coat or frock fit perfectly, but this feature is a new note in the millinery mode.

THE TURBAN beret "dance" hat, also by Patou, is of very light weight chenille in black. This is worn back on the forehead, with soft locks of hair appearing at the sides, and a piquant nose veil in open mesh, lightly chenille dotted, further softening its fitted line. The little hat is draped to one side at back.

THE EVER-PRESENT beret amends its ways to the styles that are worn with it, by sticking a feather in a fold, by adding a pert little bow, or by softening its lines to harmonize with the afternoon frock.

CHENILLE is taking a prominent place in the style picture, and much is expected of it, especially for wear with fur coats later. It is exceedingly light in weight, soft in texture, and dyes in beautiful colors. It is endorsed for both sports and formal wear, for little hats, and also as a trimming.

NEEDLESS to say, the most perfect compliment for the velvet costume is the velvet hat. You will encounter no difficulty in finding a becoming one, either. Little off-the-forehead models without a hint of brim are most dashing. Or, if you like, you can go fetchingly brimmed.

NOT ONLY are black and colors smart in the fall velvet hat—but white, too. Are you startled? It does seem rather a departure, but the vogue for light and dark contrast has brought the white hat to the fore. Stunning in beret or turban style with a brown or black frock.

ANN ARDEN will answer questions concerning clothes, social customs, and fashions generally. Address your questions to the Boston Evening American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser or to Station WHDH.

DO-X HOP MAY BE DELAYED TO 1931

Altenrhein, Switzerland, Sept. 19 (AP)—Whether the Dornier's giant airplane DO-X can make its proposed flight over the Atlantic in the remaining months of 1930 was a question which nobody at the plant which built the plane could answer today. Maurice Dornier said:

"Recent tests with the newly installed American motors have been most satisfactory."

He added that the radio and other instruments had functioned properly under rigid tests.

"But we simply won't be hurried into our flight across the Atlantic," he declared. "We will not start until we feel 100 per cent. certain of success."

All that seemed certain today was that between October 1 and 15 the DO-X would start on her greatest endurance test flight. The route planned is Amsterdam, Berlin and Travemuende. From Travemuende the DO-X will take its first real train of seaworthiness.

If the Baltic sea tests are weathered successfully, then the Atlantic in her various moods will be tried out on flights to Oslo, Southampton, Havre, Santander and finally Lisbon.

GARY COOPER, NANCY CARROLL TO PLAY TOGETHER IN 'RODEO ROMANCE'

FAVORITES ARE LINKED AS NATURAL TEAM

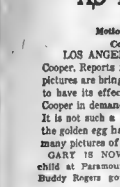
By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service

Copyright 1930, By Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, SEPT. 19—The movie public likes Gary Cooper. Reports from theaters all over the country say that his pictures are bringing in the bacon. Such word doesn't take long to have its effect on the executives in a studio. "What, Gary Cooper in demand? Let's have more and more of his pictures." It is not such a wise idea either since many a goose that lays the golden egg has been killed by studio officials demanding too many pictures of a star.

GARY IS NOW THE PET child at Paramount what with Bodgy Rogers gone to Europe for a rest and other leading men having proved disappointments.

The minute Gary finishes "The Fighting Caravan," he will be put into "Lost Society." The Mary Roberts Rinehart. Just so you won't get used to the title, "Last Ecstasy" becomes "Rodeo Romance" in the making and it is Nancy Carroll's next picture. Why not put Gary and Nancy together, when "The Shopworn Angel," in which she and Gary appeared was one of the best pictures Paramount turned out. Why not indeed, if they are not giving Gary too much to do.



Lucella D. Parsons "Romance" in the making and it is Nancy Carroll's next picture. Why not put Gary and Nancy together, when "The Shopworn Angel," in which she and Gary appeared was one of the best pictures Paramount turned out. Why not indeed, if they are not giving Gary too much to do.

GENEVIEVE TOBIN brought her mother to a luncheon given by Grace Mencken Lytell and announced herself unqualifiedly in favor of Hollywood. She came out here to make one picture and here she stays for "Half Gods" and possibly other pictures. "Half Gods' is being directed by Robert Henley, and I heard yesterday that Edwin Knopf has been borrowed from Paramount to write the dialogue. Edwin is versatile. He directs, he writes and he is good looking enough to be an actor. Also at the Embassy was Ruth Selwyn, who came out to escort her husband, Edgar Selwyn, back to New York.

FIRST HE WAS GOING, then he wasn't going and then he was going and now he is moving out to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. I forgot to tell you whom I mean; Mervyn Le Roy. Mervyn has more plans than anyone I know there last few weeks and none of them failed. If you know what I mean, until, finally, he agreed to be loaned to M-G-M for one picture. The name is "Two Little Girls Together." What with Buster Keaton doing so well with "Dough Boys," a comedy, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is going to do a little concentrating on bigger and better comedies. Mervyn will have to be back at First National when the school bell rings, January 1, so if he is thinking of going to New York he'd better make up his mind soon.

WE ARE CERTAINLY creatures of habit. I start to write the name Rex Bell, and I unconsciously add Clara Bow. The story is about Rex Bell, who is no longer under contract to Fox. He will make one more picture for them and then he has an offer to make a serial for another company.

Mervin Le Roy says his wife, Edna Murphy, comes home bruised and battered from head to toe. She is a serial queen at Universal. She reaches home at 6:30, tired and worn out and begins to sup at 6:30. The life of a serial queen or king is no cinch, take it from those who have been there.

JOHN McCORMACK will not make another picture for the Fox Company. John, whose voice is one of the most popular on the concert stage, did not go over on the screen nearly so well as everyone expected. His first picture, "Song O' My Heart," while it had its good points and did much for Maureen O'Sullivan and Tommy Clifford, two strangers to the screen, cannot be said to have helped Mr. McCormack as much as his admirers hoped. It is difficult to find a story to fit a man of his age and size. He cannot play hero parts such as Lawrence Tibbett would play, and unfortunately he is not a character actor. But he can continue to sing as long as he wishes and he will have every Irishman in the land crowding to hear him and others, too.

THE TWO POPULAR COMICS, Olsen and Johnson, braved the dangers of the air and took a plane to open in the middle West in vaudeville. They were kept busy until the last moment to get used to the little "Last Ecstasy" becomes "Rodeo Romance" in the making and it is Nancy Carroll's next picture. Why not put Gary and Nancy together, when "The Shopworn Angel," in which she and Gary appeared was one of the best pictures Paramount turned out. Why not indeed, if they are not giving Gary too much to do.

JEAN HARLOW

MISS HARLOW, star of "Hell's Angels" aerial film epic playing at the Tremont, makes a charming aviatrix, what?

MOVIE STUDY OF PYGMIES

Anyone who imagines that trial marriage is an outgrowth of a jazz-stepping age is in for a surprise. The pygmies have used it to test the love of their young men and girls from time immemorial.

"Africa Speaks," the Columbia jungle romance which opens at Keith's tomorrow, reveals how these little people solved the problem of love.

According to Paul Hoefler, who directed the filming of the picture in the heart of the black Congo when a young man and a girl love each other they ask father for permission to marry. If he consents, they seek consent of the chief. The chief gives them a long talk on the duties of a married couple—and unites them.

But not for good! The young people live together for a year. If at the end of that time they decide that they have made a mistake they simply separate. If they are satisfied with each other and certain their affection will endure they go back to the chief. He performs a mystic rite with them, says the director of "Africa Speaks," seals the bond—and they must live together for life.

HELEN FORD COMING TO PLYMOUTH

News comes from New York that Helen Ford, Boston's favorite soubrette, will be seen in the title role of her husband's play, "Miss Gulliver's Travels," which opens at the Plymouth on Monday night. Miss Ethel Taylor, co-author with George Ford, who created the role during last season's try-out tour, broke down from the double strain of directing rehearsals and playing the heavy part.

Bearing staged the play originally, but being occupied with another new production, Miss Taylor undertook to direct the rehearsals, but found that she could not do justice to the role of Judy Gulliver at the same time.

Helen Ford, who starred in her husband's production of "Dearest Enemy" at the Tremont three seasons ago, was just about to sail for London, where she made a tremendous success in "The Patsy" and in "Coquette" last year. But to save her husband's play—which is really a saga of the Ford family, famous on the American stage for over 100 years—she cancelled her London engagement and hopped into the leading part.

She will barely have time to get new costumes, since she is so tiny everything has to be made to order for her. But just as Betsy Burke in "Dearest Enemy" saved Gen. Putnam's army after the battle of Long Island, as Judy Gulliver little Miss Ford will lead Gulliver's Thespians out of the wilderness and into "the big time"—as detailed in the play by Mr. Ford and Miss Taylor.

Miss Ford will have the support of a good company, many of whom were members of the cast of "Miss Gulliver's Travels" last season. The production is elaborate, including four full stage sets and a novel effect of a stage-within-the-stage, upon which is given the Balcony Scene from "Romeo and Juliet" as a climax to the romance.

DAYS OF GOLD RUSH REVIVED

A setting which occupied two entire stages, the separating wall of which had to be removed, was one of the special carpenter jobs in the recording of "The Spoilers," having its premiere today at the Olympia and Uptown.

It is one of the largest sets ever devised for an all-talking picture. The "Northern" was a center of life in Nome 30 years ago old miners recall.

"MISS GULLIVER'S TRAVELS," which opens at the Plymouth Monday night, will present Helen Ford in the leading role. Her husband is co-author of the piece.

'OLD ENGLISH' WITH ARLISS FINE FILM

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

GEORGE ARLISS in "Disraeli" carried Alfred E. Green to the top among the 1929 directors. And "Old English" is an amazingly good talking picture, just as Mr. Arliss is an amazingly good actor. Therefore, we urge those who love films of finest flavor to speed to see this movie, now in its first showing here.

* * *

IT IS THE John Galsworthy play, which means the plot is different from the tame fare ordinarily fed out to film patrons. There is a splendid cast in support of the star, notably Doris Lloyd who gave so beautiful a performance in "Disraeli." In general the acting of all members is superb, though of course Mr. Arliss, supreme in his art on screen or on stage, stands head and shoulders above his colleagues. The great thespian again proves his right to be called one of the greatest in the profession. He himself is submerged; he lives his part, and does it so well it grips you, holds you, till it seems his personality is jumping right out from the silver sheet at you. That is acting!

PHOTOPLAY IS superb, and Mr. Green's deft hand makes the photoplay truly great as a talkie. He exhibites atmosphere, and uses his cameras to excellent purpose always. Without reservation of any kind, we may recommend "Old English" as worth seeing. Nay, a picture you can't afford to miss.

OLD WHALER A MINE OF SEA YARNS

Capt. A. E. Folger, "Whale Oil Gus," one of the few remaining links between the New England of whaling days and the present generation, is an unlimited mine of stories of the sea, but one of his funniest yarns relates how as a boy of 18 he was baptised in a hole cut through the ice at Nantucket. As Gus came out of the water a full-fledged convert, he involuntarily exclaimed "It's cold as hell." The preacher raised his hands and said "Amen, Brother Gus, Amen."

As he escorted a reporter through the exhibition of the gigantic whale "Aimee," fifty-five feet long and weighing 68-tons at the "anchorage" alongside Mechanics Building, the captain happened to recall another story about a preacher. It seems that the clergyman and his wife were returning from a lonely island where they had been doing missionary work.

The ship was caught in a storm and the minister's wife grew very nervous and after a time begged her husband to find out from Capt. Gus if the ship really was in danger. Her husband reassured her by saying that he understood that when a ship was in real danger the crew stopped cussing. Opening the cabin door the nervous woman heard one of the sailors rip out a stream of cuss words and turned to her husband and said:

"Thank God, he's still cussing."

Capt. Folger is a commander of a Pacific Whaling Company boat and is here on leave to superintend the educational exhibit of "Aimee," the largest finback whale ever captured in American waters. The thousands who have visited the exhibition since it opened here this week have gazed in awe at the tremendous size of the sea's most famed denizen. He is shown just as he was pulled from the water, with the two harpoons that ended his life still embedded in his side.

Capt. Folger personally escorts the visitors through the huge glass covered car in which "Aimee" lies in state and explains all features of the method by which whales are hunted. There are also on exhibition a gigantic devil fish, or octopus a modern whaling gun, various types of harpoons, blubber, ambergris and a photographic display of a whaler in action.

SCAMP COMIC ON K. A. BILL

Hollywood's scamp comedian Clyde Cook, has left the moving picture colony flat and gone a-touring to meet face to face the legions who have laughed at him in pictures. He is making a personal appearance here in Boston beginning tomorrow at the Keith - Albee, where he is heading a big RKO. vaudeville program. Appearing in person is not a new experience for Mr. Cook. Long before he ever acted before the camera he was well known in musical comedy on both sides of the Atlantic.

Clyde Cook

Cook hails from Australia and his theatrical career began in his homeland. Looking for new fields to conquer, he went to England, and ther. became an enormous favorite in the music halls. He came to America as a vaudevillian and shortly thereafter was made one of the comics with the Ziegfeld Follies.

Then he went into pictures and for 10 years he has been seen on the screen. Recently his fun has been expressed in a series of two-reel comedies. Among a few of the longer pictures in which he has been prominently cast are: "The Taming of the Shrew," in which he played Captain Lech; "Docks of New York" and "The Dawn Patrol."

Sono Art Release

James Cruze has completed "The Costello Case," which will be ready for release by Sono Art in October. Walter Long directed Tom Moore, Lola Lane, Wheeler Oakman, Russell Hardie, Roscoe Kearns and William Davidson.

Ruth Chatterton has started work at Paramount in "The Right to Love," in which she plays four different characterizations. Richard Wallace is directing.

FREE FROM THE MEDICINE HABIT

SUFFERERS from constipation will be interested in Mrs. Van Horn's letter below. She wrote us voluntarily to express her appreciation for the wonderful results Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought.

"I have been using ALL-BRAN for one year and have a movement every morning. Before I was taking medicine every three or four days. Now I never take any. Many thanks to ALL-BRAN. I can't praise it too much."

Sincerely,
Mrs. C. W. Van Horn
2125 S. 67th St., Phila.

Don't let constipation sap your health and strength. Guard against it—now, just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Relief is guaranteed. At all grocers—in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Improved in Texture and Taste

In 1910, during the struggle for control of the Republican Party in New York, a political bombshell came from Colonel Roosevelt after a supposedly harmonious conference with President Taft. Another series of Major Butt's letters appearing in next Sunday's March of Events in the Boston Sunday Advertiser tell of more secrets of the famous "Taft-Roosevelt split." Read how President Taft fell asleep at a cabinet dinner and how he tried to get campaign funds from Andrew Carnegie.

FARRELL AND GAYNOR AGAIN

Raoul Walsh is to direct Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "The Man Who Came Back," and will follow that immediately with the direction of Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe in "Women of All Nations," being the further adventures of "Flagg" and "Quirt."

"The Man Who Came Back" will mean the reuniting of screen's foremost lovers, and "Women of All Nations" unites Vic McLaglen and Eddie Lowe.

Walsh plans to complete both pictures before the end of 1931.

Conti in Fox Film

Albert Conti will appear in the principal role in "Stolen Thunder," for Fox. J. Harold Murray and Jeanette MacDonald will also appear in the cast.

Film Who's Who

Reginald Denny, who is co-starred with Kay Johnson in Cecil B. De Mille's second talking picture, "Madame Satan" at Loew's State next week, was born in Richmond, Surrey, England, the son of theatrical parents. Denny made his first appearance on the stage at the age of seven in a London theater. At 16 he ran away from school to return to the stage. In his career as a stage actor he has appeared in England, the United States, India and the Orient.

GAMING TERM EXPLAINED

An explanation of the term "fade" or "fade a bet," common in the argot of the gambler, is offered by the formula of speech used by the croupier at roulette in the casino at Monte Carlo, according to Ernst Lubitsch.

The Monte Carlo croupier, at the start of the play, calls over and over again in an even, emotionless tone, "Faites vos jeux, mesdames, faites vos jeux, monsieurs," meaning, "make your play, ladies and gentlemen." The words are droned much as the clerk of the court hurries through his oath for witnesses and the French word "Faites," thus spoken, could be misunderstood as "Fade."

CHORINES NAP AS THEY GO

The fairy tale about Sleeping Beauty was re-enacted each day during production of "Heads Up" at Paramount's New York studio.

Fifty of the city's most beautiful chorus girls are in the cast. Most of them worked in Broadway musical comedies at night and reported at the studio in the day time. So they had to snatch their sleep where they found it. And they did.

No matter how much noise was being made by carpenters, scene shifters and electricians on the set, a large number of the girls were to be found between scenes curled up in chairs, divans, window seats and cozy corners in sound slumber.

2 MEN HELD IN WILD CHASE

After an eight-mile chase in which they fired six shots, two Concord police overtook a speeding automobile and arrested two Boston men, according to their testimony in Concord court today.

The men, who gave their names as Daniel Barrett and Harry Bartlett, were fined $10 each for drunkenness by Judge Howard A. Wilson and held in $2,500 bail each for the grand jury on the charge of stealing an automobile.

The chase began in Monument sq., Concord Center, when the auto sped past a red traffic signal, according to the policemen, Sergt Marshal Witherell and Patrolman Robert P. Lawson.

Commandeering a car, the officers gave chase down the State road, and after firing without effect, crowded the fleeing machine into a stone wall at the Lexington line. Both machines were slightly damaged.

The fugitive car had been stolen last night from Daniel J. Cronin of 54 Mointain ave., Malden, according to the police.

FIND MAN SLAIN UNDER BRIDGE

Meriden, Ct., Sept. 19 (AP)—The body of an unidentified man was found face downward in eight inches of water beneath a railroad trestle here today, and police indicated he had been slain.

A penny, found clenched in his hand, and other pieces of silver nearby, suggested a dispute over money.

Dr. J. F. Buffum of Wallingford, who investigated in the absence of the medical examiner, said a five inch scalp wound and a slight fracture of the skull caused death.

The man was about 45 years old. A label on the coat bore the name of an East Orange, N. J., tailor, and across it was written the name "North."

Bride Admits She Is in Love, but Not With Aged Husband

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Cathie Paige marries her wealthy elderly employer, Alfred Farnsworth. He is a kind and indulgent husband, but Cathie is lonely and homesick and the gloomy, almost sinister family mansion gets on her nerves. Soft-footed Chinese servants under the directions of Cheong, have their quarters in the basement, and a sullen maid-servant, Marguerite, in possession of many hideous family secrets, has a room on the third floor.

In the meantime Cathie has accompanied her husband to an engineering project in the mountains. Where Moore, in charge of operations, offers to show her the dam at night. Under the spell of the dark, romantic setting they admit their love for each other, and Moore kisses Cathie

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 26

(Copyright, 1930, King Features Synd., Inc.)

CATHIE WOKE in the morning clear-eyed and refreshed. The workers stared when she came into the mess-hall for breakfast in a wool sweater and skirt of the same soft flower-blue as her eyes. Under the knitted tam her sunny hair curled and glittered around her small, laughing face. Beside her, Alfred Farnsworth had never looked so old. His eyes were puffy, and there was a grayish pallor over his usually healthy, florid face.

"It's a grand thing to be young. I can still remember!" Uncle Andrew Moore told her, smilingly, shaking his gaunt, gray head from side to side.

"Ah, but age brings its compensations," the blind woman said gently. "One wants so much less that one can't have. Andrew, are you seeing the guests have everything?"

Not So Wicked

Gordon came in a little late. He, too, looked clear-eyed and fresh, but he had little to say. Cathie thought he looked tired, or sad, she couldn't decide which. She wondered if he had worried about last night. It was wrong, of course . . . still . . . just one kiss, if you never do it again . . . that isn't so very wicked, and oh, it helps so to know that you're loved. She wouldn't have had it otherwise . . . when she got a chance she'd tell him . . . then he'd stop worrying . . .

There was no opportunity to speak to him after breakfast. He left directly with Farnsworth and the other brother, David.

With the blind aunt Cathie visited the kitchen, saw the great ranges, the huge refrigerators, and the crew of men who peeled potatoes, scraped carrots, opened cans of asparagus and tomatoes.

"Everything's immaculate," the little old lady said complacently. It was, but how, Cathie wondered, did she know it?

Keen Appetites

It was a thrill to listen to the whistle that announced lunch; to see the men, some spattered with cement, some wet to the tops of their high boots, filing in to eat. To see the platters of fried potatoes, sliced meat and heaped up vegetables melt away. Everybody was hungry, and everybody enjoyed the food that the blind woman provided.

The Moore Brothers kept workers over years, workers who went with them from project to project, and the silvery-haired old blind aunt went with them always, fearing the cold mountain winters, the hot desert summers with equal blandness, never complaining, never looking hot or cold or tired or dirty, never seeing, and yet seeing all.

She even directed the placing of a few hardy flowers and shrubs around the houses, and a fine patch of clover in front of the guest house was proudly referred to as "the lawn." "It makes such a difference how things look," she said. She, who couldn't see at all.

Time Flies

The three days that Farnsworth could spare from the office passed all too quickly for Cathie. She was glowing and vibrant with happiness. Her skin, always clear and satiny, had become incredibly beautiful. There was a faint opalescent sheen to it. It seemed too delicate even to touch, like the petal of a flower. Her eyes were dark blue wells of happiness, and their thick, curled back, sunny lashes gave them a laughing look.

The younger engineers found excuses to hang around the camp. In the bunkhouses they talked about her, joked a bit at Farnsworth's expense. How long would an old codger like that keep such a pretty young wife?

First Taste of College

BOSTON COLLEGE WELCOMED the largest freshman class in its history yesterday when 460 freshmen, the cream of 61 high and prep schools throughout the eastern section of the country, assembled in the administration building to be addressed by Rev. James J. McDermott, dean of freshman. Part of the group was snapped leaving the building.

FIND BODIES IN HINGHAM COTTAGE

Rockport-Waltham Woman Is Declared Victim of Mental Depression

Suffering mental depression, Mrs. Ida DeMond, 45, of Rockport and Waltham, took the life of her youngest daughter, Martha, 12, and killed herself by gas in a cottage at Hingham, police said today.

The bodies were found late last night on the floor of the Stoddard rd. cottage, which was filled with gas from the five open jets on the kitchen range.

The discovery was made after the husband and father, Harry DeMond, proprietor of the L. H. D. Spring Co., Waltham, notified police his wife had written him a suicide letter.

Mrs. DeMond and daughters, Rita, 15, and Martha, made their home in Rockport. DeMond, to be near his business, roomed in Waltham, making frequent visits to his family.

LEASED COTTAGE

On August 1 Mrs. DeMond went to Hingham to lease the cottage for two weeks, making sure it had gas.

Monday last the mother and her younger daughter left Rockport and went to the Hingham cottage, their only extra clothing being carried in an overnight bag.

Neighbors saw nothing of them Tuesday or Wednesday, but no investigation was made until DeMond telephoned Hingham police yesterday.

FEAR FOR FATHER

The girl's body, clad in pajamas, was found several yards from the outstretched arms of the mother. Police believed Mrs. DeMond had Martha in her arms until she lost consciousness, and the girl then tried to crawl to the door of the kitchen.

Martha was the favorite daughter of her father, and friends fear her death may cause his collapse.

POLICE ARE WINNING IN WAR UPON DIVES

Improvement Shown Over the Period Before Shakeup of Division Commanders

The police department, under Commissioner Hultman and with increased co-operation from the public, is waging a successful battle against speakeasies, drug traffic and vice, according to figures made public today.

The figures came out as division captains prepared the new reports on conditions in their district which the commissioner had demanded by Tuesday night.

Evidence of improvement is contained in the department records for May, June, July and August which are on file with the chief clerk at headquarters.

They show both an increase in the successful activities of the department and an increase in public co-operation with the police in the matter of filing complaints.

PUBLIC COMPLAINS

The reorganized department, with its shakeup of captains and division personnel, is receiving more public complaints of law violations and effecting more arrests on the strength of those complaints than it was when Hultman succeeded Herbert A. Wilson as commissioner in May.

For instance, 363 complaints of liquor law violations were filed by the public in May and 303 arrests were made in that month. The number of complaints and arrests increased in June and July, and in August 467 complaints were filed and 404 arrests resulted.

In May, not a single complaint for drug violations was made by the public and not a single arrest was made. Last month 44 complaints were filed and 38 arrests were made.

REPORTS IMPROVED

A restoration of public confidence in the department, of increased activities meriting the restoration of that confidence are indicated by the figures.

Commissioner Hultman's new order requesting division data on all known or suspected liquor "joints," houses of ill fame, etc., is a duplicate of that sent out by him when he assumed office in May.

Since the first reports were made there has been a big shakeup of division commanders and the new reports doubtlessly will be for comparison with the old as well as for checking against the figures contained in the accompanying table.

460 FRESHMEN ENTER B. C.

The largest class in the history of University Heights entered Boston College yesterday. The 460 new college men were selected from 64 high schools and preps, and included residents of every State in New England, as well as several from New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

The yearlings assembled in the administration lecture hall, where they were addressed by the Rev. James J. McDermott, S. J., dean of freshmen.

Following the assembly, the freshmen were sent to their classes.

An interesting note of the day was the mention of the marks earned by prospective athletics at the Heights in their entrance examinations. While 200 candidates were refused on the basis of scholastic deficiencies, the football team as a whole had an average of more than 75 per cent, or 15 per cent higher than the passing mark.

BOY AIDING DOG BADLY BITTEN

Attempting to rescue his pet puppy from an attack by an airedale, Ralph Gary, 11, of Pleasant st., Belmont, was bitten and nearly killed by the larger dog.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron A. Gary, was playing with his puppy in a field near his home when the airedale set upon his pet. Snatching up his puppy, he suffered 23 deep wounds on the face, throat, hands and arms inflicted by the airedale.

A construction gang working nearby rescued him. Physicians said he would probably recover.

The airedale, police said, is owned by Mrs. Charles A. Wight of Center ave., Belmont. It is under observation.

Call Aldermen to Settle Tax Rate

In another attempt to settle the question of the Somerville tax rate, Mayor John J. Murphy has called a special meeting of the board of aldermen for tomorrow evening. At that time he hopes the board will take final action on the order appropriating $266,735 for the supplementary budget. This is in addition to $3,568,570 appropriated in April.

Catholics Honor Centennial of Miraculous Medal

The 100th anniversary of the Catholic Miraculous Medal will be celebrated next Wednesday at St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, by priests and nuns.

Celebrations will be held also all over the world where there are Vincentian Priests or Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul.

The Miraculous Medal is the result of three apparitions of Our Blessed Lady appearing to Sister Catherine Laboure, a novice in the mother house of the Sisters of Charity in Paris, in 1830.

As a result of the apparitions the first medals were struck with the approbation of Mgr. de Quelen Archbishop of Paris.

Wednesday's program at St Peter's will include a solemn high mass at 10 a. m., a benediction at 4 p. m. and solemn benediction, sermon and investing with the Miraculous Medal at 8 p. m.

PAY CUT STIRS CHOREWOMEN

Chorewomen at the Boston Post office and other federal buildings, whose wages have been cut, were planning a protest meeting today to formulate a resolution of protest for transmission to Senators Walsh and Gillett and all the Massachusetts Congressmen.

Until recently the women, some of them widowed Civil War mothers, were employed regularly at approximately $620 a year, and were paid for Sunday and holiday work. Under a new ruling they work only four or five hours a day and lose Sundays and holidays.

Some of the women said they feared to speak publicly about the matter, but would probably consent to attend a protest meeting as the only means of voicing their grievance.

Besides being affected by the wage cuts, chorewomen were cut out of expected wage increases in a bill passed by the last Congress and were excluded from classification as regular employes.

$100 Weekly for News and Picture Tips

Do you want to get money for being alert? If so, the Boston American offers the opportunity. Each week $100 in prizes will be given for news and picture tips telephoned in to the News-Tip Editor, at Liberty 4000.

And what is a news tip? It's the information that some thing of interest to Greater Bostonians has taken place or will take place. Do you know, for instance, that an interesting picture is to be obtained, that an accident or an unusual event has happened, that there is going to be a business merger? That's a news tip. If you have a camera, take a picture of some news event, while it is happening. Pictures of unusual animal poses are wanted, too. Bring your action pictures to the American quick. Delay often spoils them for use in the American.

There will be $25 given weekly for the best or an unusual event news tip received, $15 for the next best, $10 for the next best, two $5 prizes and $2 prizes for each of the 20 next most valuable tips. Of course, the first one who turns in the tip in an interesting event receives the award on that particular item. Anyone who is alive and alert can win.

"The Soul of America," selected as the best of 40 pageants given at the Tribune during the last two months, will portray the dreams of the colonists over the period of a century with a cast of 500, including members of the army, navy and marine corps.

For two hours from noon today the Tribune was the scene of a concert given by the 101st Yankee Band. Several thousand persons were attracted.

ON MOTOR TOUR

The city was host to its special guests today on a motor trip to Plymouth, a visit to Plymouth Rock and a shore dinner at Hotel Samoset in the historic old town.

Several automobiles carried Mayor Curley, Mayor Reuben Soiter of Boston, England, local dignitaries and Canadian officials on the South Shore motor pilgrimage to the landing place of the Pilgrims. Plymouth selectmen received the party in Pilgrim Memorial Hall and conducted the visitors to places of historic interest.

Tonight the guests will attend the start of the pageant and then go to the Wilbur Theatre for the performance of Jane Cowl and her company in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

In the party, in addition to the English guests, will be Edwin Markham, the poet; governors of several states and the mayors of 50 Canadian and New England cities.

Tomorrow the guests will be taken on a motor trip to historical points in and around Boston and in the afternoon will attend the musical and gymnastic exercises on the Common. In the evening they will attend the banquet of the Sons of St. George at the Brunswick Hotel.

GIRL SAYS AUTO RAN HER DOWN

Police today are endeavoring to find out what happened to Miss Maude Stott, 26, of Broadway, Cambridge, who was found injured and dazed in Atlantic ave, near Rowe's wharf about 5:30 this morning.

At the Haymarket Relief Hospital the girl said she had been hit by an automobile shortly before midnight in front of South Station. The hospital physicians told the police, however, that her injuries had been suffered no more than an hour before she reached the relief station.

The girl is suffering from a possible fracture of the jaw and injuries to her back, her legs and her [illegible]. She was found wandering in the street by two Medford men, Andrew Stewart and John Dougherty, and was so dazed she could not talk coherently. The men notified the Milk street police station and the girl was taken to the hospital.

The girl later said she had been visiting her father at 1276 Pleasant st., New Bedford, and had arrived at South Station shortly before midnight. While crossing Atlantic ave., in front of the station, the girl declares, she was struck by an automobile.

16 JAPS HERE TO STUDY U. S.

Japan is eagerly studying, not only American methods of industry and management, but even American methods of thinking, and living.

This was declared today by Yoichi Ueno at a breakfast given at the Copley-Plaza by Mayor Curley to 16 prominent Japanese industrialists visiting Boston under auspices of the Taylor Society, whose Boston representative is Henry P. Kendall, president of the Kendall Co.

Yoichi Ueno, chief director of the Japanese branch of the society, said America apparently knows little of the Japanese, while the Japanese, on the other hand, are making an intensive study of Americans.

"The only way," he said, "to promote friendship and better understanding in commercial relations between countries is to know each other better."

Other speakers were Mayor Curley, Courtenay Crocker, president of the Japanese Society of Boston; Mr. Kendall and Thomas A. Mullen, chairman of the city's industrial bureau.

The Japanese later visited industrial plants in Cambridge and Brockton.

WAITER PLEADS BANKRUPTCY

Arthur Couture, a waiter, of Hillman st., New Bedford, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy showing liabilities of $19,471.53 and [illegible] assets. Couture, whose faith in human nature has apparently curdled, cried in the bankrupt how he had originally amassed the money or how he expended it.

At the same time, Charles C. Plana, a Hyannis restaurateur, filed a petition disclosing liabilities of $7,062.45 and uncertain assets.

Julius H. Seif, listed as manager and living in Esmond st., Dorchester, filed a petition showing liabilities of $7000, no assets.

Others who filed were:

RESCUES CAT IN BACK BAY FIRE

Fire drove members of three families from the three-story brick apartment house at 43 St. Germain st., Back Bay, today, and caused damage estimated at $2500.

Ladderman James Walton stepped on a nail while fighting the flames and was taken to City Hospital for treatment.

Two cats of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kelley, in whose third floor apartment the fire is believed to have started, were missing after the fire, while a third, Ginger, was rescued by Henry Trenliemann of 41 St. Germain st.

Scores of children on their way to school stopped to watch the fire and probably would have been tardy had not Patrolman William Maguire ordered them to "get going." The cause of the fire was not determined.

AID 'BUY NOW' CAMPAIGN BY SHOPPING

Do Your Christmas Shopping Early to Bring Quick Return of Prosperity

BUY NOW!

Spend a little more each week.

Do your Christmas shopping earlier, at prices which will be materially advanced on all staples as as well as articles of luxury within the next two months.

Consider for one moment how it would galvanize trade in Boston if 150,000 heads of families, with jobs and with a little money in the bank, would spend an extra $2 or $3 a week for family requirements, or for the thousand and one comforting things that they could afford, even though they might not be essential.

The spending of $3 each week by these 150,000 families would not be a hardship to any one of them. They would get value received and perhaps a little more in view of the obvious co-operation of the merchants of Boston at this time.

In short, such a course would hardly make an appreciable dent in the family exchequer.

But it would put nearly half a million of dollars into circulation here, weekly. It would move the goods in the stores and those goods would promptly be replaced with others from the factory. And the factories would have to put more men and women to work to supply the demand. Thus would the problem of unemployment be solved. That is really the only problem that confronts the country today—the man and the woman, and the boy and the girl, who are willing and able to work, but night after night and day after day encounter the sign "No Help Wanted."

BUT NOW and solve not only the problem of unemployment for downhearted and discouraged thousands but the problem of continued prosperity for yourself and help to your less fortunate neighbor.

Economist say the American's BUY NOW idea is perfectly feasible and in keeping with home thrift and frugality.

Every day additional hundreds are embracing the unusual opportunity to help others without depriving themselves. Why not try it? Why not join the procession?

Antique Reward for Dive

'L' Man in Nightshirt Nabs Prowler in Long Chase

There is modesty even in chasing burglars, so Motorman Edward P. Frye of the Boston Elevated and of 9 Sumner rd., Dorchester, donned his trousers on his arm in pursuing a suspect early today.

Frye was awakened by someone at his bedroom window on the first floor, and leaping from bed seized the arms but their owner wrenched away and dropped to the ground.

Believing the intruder would appear again, Frye remained awake, and he... an hour later saw the arms over the sill again.

Again he seized them and again his quarry fled.

Then Frye, in nightshirt, snatched up his trousers, draped them over his arm, dashed out to the back yard and the chase was on through Sumner rd. to Sumner st. to Stoughton st., Columbia rd. and to Upham's Corner, where Frye seized the fugitive and turned him over to Patrolman Richard Clark.

At Fields Corner police station the captive was booked as James Murray, 28, of Monadnock st., Roxbury, charged with attempted breaking and entering.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns

REVOLUTIONARY RIFLE FOUND

When times get dull aboard the Arbella, replica of Governor Winthrop's vessel now moored in the Charles river basin, Cyrice Cormier, the attendant, casts aside his bellimenta of 300 years ago and returns to the present with a refreshing swim in the river.

But yesterday his bath carried him halfway back to Puritan days again, for when he dove to the river bottom, he found an old musket which antique dealers say probably dates from Revolutionary times.

Cormier lives at 43 Duncan st., Gloucester, and has been versed, since childhood in things historic, but this gun, which was very evidently out of date long before Civil War days, has become his most prized possession.

What is its history, how it came to be in the river, none can say. One Charles st. antique dealer offered Cormier $100 for it but he is keeping it for the present.

On the butt of the musket are the initials L. M. R., apparently carved there many years ago. The stock is exceptionally short and only suitable for a small man.

Zebras Rout Sleeper From Zoo Slumber

Striped "Bed Ticking" Rises in Its Wrath, and Court Fines Perfectly Sober Man $15

For $15 a weary traveler may get a room in the best hotel in Boston. Joseph Hines, 65, of Tyler st., South End, spending that amount, prefers to sleep with the zebras at Franklin Park zoo.

The worst of it was he didn't get a full night's rest. The zebras objected to his snoring or something and John Lehan, watchman, routed him out and turned him over to police.

Hines is no relation to the inebriated McIntyre, who, some two years ago, strangled the zoo's favorite ostrich because it objected to sharing its sleeping quarters with him. Hines was sober.

He was, apparently, merely casing about for a nice place to sleep and selected the zebra house because two zebras, lying down in the darkness, looked like pillows with the slips removed.

He scaled an eight-foot fence to get into the house but Lehan took him out through the door, which undoubtedly spoiled half the fun.

The other half was spoiled in West Roxbury Court today when Judge Perrin fined him $15 for trespassing on the zebras. Hines is thankful he didn't get into Ye Woode Puss Tavern by mistake.

WOMAN'S FIGHT MAY CLOSE 3000 RESTAURANTS IN REVERE

CHARGES HER PLANS ARE BLOCKED

Ex-City Councilor Says Revere Board Has No Authority to Grant Licenses

More than 3000 victualers' licenses in Revere were in peril today following testimony of a former city councilor that the licensing commission of that city had no authority to grant them.

The testimony was given by Atty. Joseph Riceman, speaking in defense of a charge by Mme. Madalena Cavana, Boston restaurateur, that he asked $1000 to get her a license in Revere.

Mme. Cavana brought a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the Revere commission to grant her a license she charged was refused because her business would interfere with one owned by Mayor Andrew Cassasas.

SAYS $1000 WAS FEE

Before Richard M. Walsh, sitting as master, she charged that Riceman said:

"It will cost you $1000 and I won't get the license through either the Mayor or the licensing commission."

Riceman caused a stir with his explanation of the charge.

"The $1000 was asked as a legal fee and in no way did I intend to buy any license," he said. "Mme. Cavana came to me and asked my aid to get her a license and after looking up the law, I told her it would cost her $1000."

City Solicitor Wendell Murray, counsel for Harry Pray, Frederick Allen and Max Lincoff, licensing board defendants, asked Riceman how he intended to procure the license and the latter startled the hearing with the statement that the commission had no authority over licenses for victuallers and innholders.

TELLS OF LIQUOR

Murray pressed for the legal reference but Riceman parried on the grounds that it was legal information he possessed and the information for anybody was in the General Laws.

Horatio Allin, counsel for Mme. Cavana, pressed further and Riceman explained that the commission had jurisdiction only over Sunday licenses. In his opinion, and the city council was the body to grant to victuallers.

He refused references and was upheld by the master.

Mme. Cavana was returned to the stand and told of expeditions through "plenty of Revere places where liquor was sold." The hearing was continued until next Thursday.

Indigestion Fatal to Roxbury Man

DOG PROTECTS LOST BOY, 3

John Stoterau and his police dog Rex were home again today—and police of the Mattapan station hope they will stay there—especially Rex.

John is only three but already he is THE man of the one-man police dog, which police discovered when John was found wandering in Leston st., far from his home at 104 Itasca st., Mattapan.

Patrolman George Tirney knew John for a stranger and attempted to question him. But Rex had other ideas and circled around his young master menacingly.

Then the policeman used trickery. He succeeded in coaxing John, from a distance, to follow him, and in procession—the policeman, then John, and then Rex—trailed into the station.

There the difficulties were not over, however, for Rex refused to allow anyone near John. Finally the situation was cleared, when John's daddy entered the station and claimed his son and Rex.

DEMANDS NEW SCHOOL FOR BROOKLINE

Kendrick Leads in Reviving Fight After Town Votes for Golf Course

Brookline town meeting vote last night deciding for a public golf course instead of a new school caused new impetus today in the fight for the school.

Thomas P. Kendrick, chairman of the committee on hygiene of the school committee, joined with his fellow member, Mrs. Margaret M Robinson, in declaring something must be doné to relieve conditions at the William H. Lincoln school.

A petition was circulated by parents, requesting the school committee to provide other accommodations for children now attending Lincoln school, which last night's meeting called unsafe, unsanitary and a fire trap. Charles F. Rowley, chairman of the school committee, admitted the building is a "disgrace."

A petition was presented at the meeting for taking by eminent domain the Searle lot on Walnut st., which last March the town refused to buy on recommendation of the school committee.

This petition was turned down when Selectmann Walter J. Cusick, Chairman Rowley and others opposed the procedure.

Selectman Kendrick said today

"The school committee will have to take definite action at the next meeting."

We're all with you, Reggie, cawn't you hear us howl——
Haw-vard! Haw-vard! Haww-w-w-w-var-r-r-d!

Try that on your piano—eh, we mean, your cheering section! O, Di, Mi! We could just die for dear old Muhlenburg! Bright college years, with pleasure rife, and the son of a gun ran off with the janitor's wife! Deah, o' deah, we are just filled with college spirit. Please, Mr. Compositor, hic, don't set that, hic, in the plural. You see, Dick Daniels, B. B., B. C. E., B. S. E., which means he is a bachelor of biff, bachelor of cauliflower ears and bachelor of scrambled eyebrows, the former Minnesota lineman with a book of calculus in his left, college diploma in his right, his mortarboard cap tilted robishly over one ear and his gown draping the ring ropes, fights in the Garden tonight.

The erstwhile member of Cutry to demonstrate the value of pid Spears' Minnesota eleven will higher educa- tion on one Marty Gallagher, who used to live in Washington, but who now hangs up his hat out Roxbury way and votes for James Michael Curley. But that's not here. It's over there in Jack Conway's column. Jack will tell you all about the comparative fistic abilities of the educated Master Daniels and Mister Shean—we mean Gallagher—likewise about Jim Braddock and Phil Mercurio, who will swap man-sized poithogues in the main 10-rounder. It devolves upon us, friend fans, to fan a bit about the collegians who took up the gentle profession of scrambling ears.

George Underwood

Many collegians were called, but few were called anything but rude words. The only collegian we recall who made good in the squared circle was Gale somebody or other and that was a fiction.—Witwer's Leather Socking Tales.

Let's see, Sully Montgomery, tackle on the little Center College eleven that came up here and beat the everlasting daylights out of haughty Harvard—oh, those Praying Colonels!—tried his hand at fisticuffs, but never got further than the scrubs. Ditto for big Ed Garvey, one of Knute Rockne's Seven Mules of Notre Dame, who made the holes for the Four Horsemen to plunge through to fame and glory. Garvey was a "whale" in football but in the ring Ed generally hit the other fellow and then hit the floor, himself.

Henry Lamar, who has been fighting around this neck of the fistic woods for a considerable spell, is a former West Virginia football star. Henny had a grand-uncle who was postmaster general, another who was a justice of the Supreme Court, another who was president of Texas when it was the Lone Star Republic and is a cousin of Bill Lamar, the Yankee outfielder. But enough of Lamar's genealogy. He hasn't gone very far, and is not likely to go very far, in the realm of the busted beaks and displaced eyebrows.

NOT THREE-CARD MONTE

Monte Munn of Nebraska, all-American tackle, was about the best ring prospect ever turned out by the colleges. The trouble was that Monte was a bit too old when he invaded the prize ring. Boxing is a sport which, like baseball, is replete with instinctive moves and has to be mastered when you're young. Munn didn't go direct from college into the ring. He had hung out his shingle as a practicing lawyer and was a member of the Nebraska Legislature when he heard the call of the roped square.

John Morrissey, heavyweight champion, went from the prize ring into the House of Representatives at Washington. John Gully, heavyweight champion England, later became Hon John Gully, member of Parliament. Marty McCue, the New York feather, was a member of the New York legislature and Eddie Santry, Chicago feather, served a term in the Illinois legislature.

Those warriors went from the prize ring to the legislative halls. Monte Munn reversed proceedings by going from the legislative halls to the prize ring.

Folks might consider that going down the scale, not up, but Monte didn't. Not so long ago Monte remarked to your fellow fan:

"I'm not sorry I took up boxing. It was an interesting experience. It gave me a knowledge of things I never would have had if I hadn't drawn on the gloves. It enabled me to travel, which broadens; to mix with all stratas of mankind, which widens. I never reached the fistic heights, but in my few years in boxing I made more money, much more money, than I could have made in many years as a lawyer and legislator. I can pursue whatever vocation I want now without financial stress."

K. O'D CAMPOLO

During the course of Monte Munn's fistic wanderings he sailed far down there on the map where the Southern Cross swings low in the heavens, and where there has been more shooting going on recently on the Avenido de Mayo than on the Boule Mich and Wabash Avenue put together. Yes, we refer to Buenos Aires!

While in Firpoville on The Petite Monte met one Vittorin Campolo. The Nebraskan collegian and legislatpr knocked out Senor Campolo in the ninth round. Inasmuch as Senor Campolo collides with our Jack Sharkey in New York next Thursday night perhaps what Monte recently had to say on the Argentine Giant may prove interesting:

"Sharkey wants to watch out for Campolo," says Monte. "He must not underestimate that Argentine gent. He is a tough hombre. Two years ago when I fought Vittorio he was a novice and as green as the grass of his native pampas. He scarcely knew how to put his hands up. But I hadn't boxed half a round with him before I realized he was one of the most natural prospects I ever saw.

"Campolo has advanced greatly since I fought him. He has mastered the rudiments of boxing and experience has seasoned him and given him ring generalship. He is a giant, so tall he is hard to reach with a clean punch, tremendously strong, and fast with a heavy smash in each hand. He has the heart of a lion. He was little more than a novice, you must remember, when he went 10-rounds against Phil Scott at Ebbets Field. If Sharkey, clever and experienced as he is, doesn't watch out this Argentine

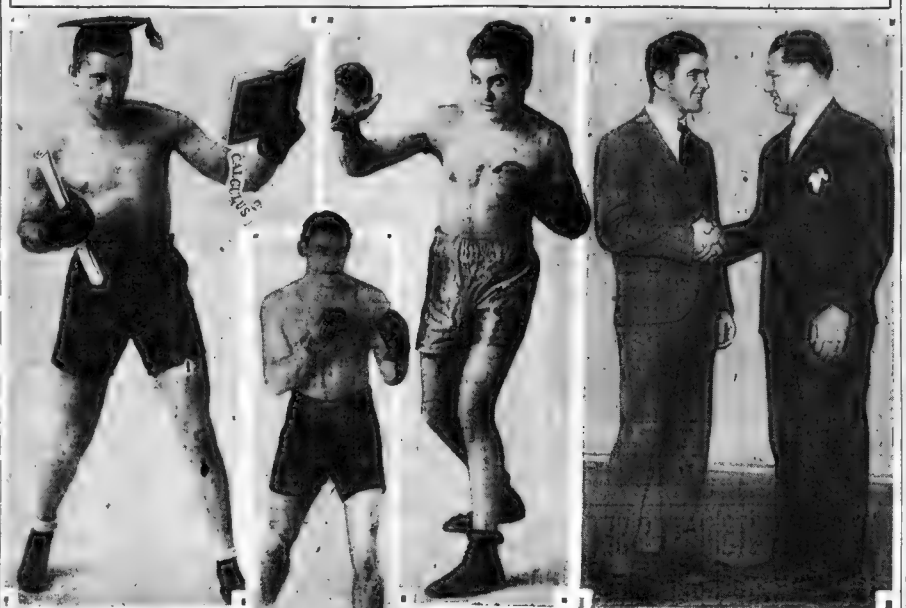
TEST OF HIGHER EDUCATION IN GARDEN TONIGHT



DICK DANIELS, Minnesota Collegian, as Charlie Schmidt. American staff artist, depicts him after Fanning With George Underwood. The former tackle on Cupid Spears' eleven expects to demonstrate that the shortest way to Marty Gallagher's jaw is a straight line. The demonstration is likely to prove successful. Anyway Jack Conway says Daniels will win.

MARTY GALLAGHER, Roxbury's graduate of the school of hard knocks, who says: "I may not have graduated from college like Daniels but that ex-football star certainly will find I know my A B Cs about boxing. Why I'll knock that rah-rah boy for a row of 'Holler Hards' on Harrison av'noo!"

PHIL MERCURIO, in fighting pose above, who will be in the opposite corner to James J. Braddock. Fillup is a fast, clever, hard hitting boxer, but Jack Conway says he will be on the receiving end and Jack generally picks 'em right. Fillup may hand Conway's dope a rude jolt.

JAMES J. BRADDOCK, who has the lucky fistic handle "J. J." to his name. Let's see, there was James J. Jeffries and James J. Corbett. BRADDOCK is shown being congratulated by the Daddy of 'Em All, the one and only JACK DEMPSEY. A year ago DEMPSEY said that BRADDOCK was "the makings of the greatest heavyweight in the world."

By JACK CONWAY

Jimmy Braddock, the Jersey heavyweight, says he will get back on Victory Trail when he clashes with Phil Mercurio of New York in a 10-round bout at the Boston Garden tonight.

Braddock has shown in Boston twice this summer. In his bow, he licked Jose Monte of Brockton at Fenway Park. Jimmy looked the part of a champion in winning over Monte. He jabbed and hooked Monte with lefts and then crashed right-handers to the head and body Braddock picked the spots for his right duke and was well out in front when the contest ended.

Jack Conway

The Jersey thumper then stepped in with Babe Hunt. He spotted this worthy 18 pounds and was only scared out of the decision. In the eighth frame, one of Braddock's right-hand socks crashed to Hunt's chin and the latter almost faded out of the picture.

Now Braddock comes roaring back into the Garden intent upon winning from Mercurio. He realizes that a victory over Phil will send he fistic stock soaring again.

Braddock only weighs 180 pounds, but is still packing on weight Cwe Jimmy ten more pounds ar he won't have to take any ba talk from any of the dear ol heavyweights.

Mercurio will have a decided weight margin on Braddock tonight. The Eddie Harvey entry is of the opinion he carries too many Bridgeport, Ct., Sept. 19 (AP)—Here's some cheering news for the baseball team at Sing Sing Prison.

After his parole, McCann was befriended by Raymond J. Wahler of Bridgeport, who aided him in getting a job at a local industrial plant and also had his parents take him into their home. Consodine, Former Brown Star, to Coach Tufts Cubs

Consodine graduated in 1928 after playing four years on the Brown grid team as guard, center, and fullback. While there he won fame for himself as a consistent player and for his ability to fill in at different positions. Before entering Brown he played at Newton high under Dickinson.

Since his graduation he has coached at Plymouth and at Newton. He is now teaching civics and history at Newton high school.

Harold Coxen, who was injured during the freshman football season last year, is back with the team. Others reporting were Bill Staffon, brother of Art Staffon who is a varsity tackle; Fred Tirella, a back from New Haven; "Bump" Spaulding, all-scholastic guard at Medford high two years ago; McMannus, halfback star at Dean, Ralph Morse, John Park hurst and Wayne Roberts.

B. C. Mentor Watches Harvard Practice

RICHARDS IS SHIFTED TO GUARD

Joe McKenney, head coach of Boston College, was today a visitor at Soldiers Field, where he witnessed the Harvard University practice.

McKenney and Arnold Horween, Harvard coach talked over the season's prospects.

No scrimmage was held, as bruises had the Crimson-clad athletes pretty well used up.

The teams went through a light workout, with most of the time given over to the lateral pass.

guns for Braddock, and that he will be well out front when the heavy firing ceases.

Dick Daniels, Minneapolis heavyweight, will parade into action against Marty Gallagher of Roxbury in another ten-round event. Daniels is under the management of Mike Collins who formerly piloted Mike and Tom Gibbons. Collins knows his fighters and says Daniels is the real thing in the heavyweight line.

Daniels upset Al Fay in a ten-round bout in Chicago on Wednesday night. He came through the Fay bout unmarked and immediately hopped a rattler for Boston. He arrived here this morning.

Jack Keaney, former manager of Jack Dempsey, declared that Daniels is the best looking of the new crop of heavyweights.

Gallagher isn't the least bit worried over Daniels' record. He believes he will be able to outbox the Westerner.

Gibson and Mitchell In Semifinal Bout

The eight-round semifinal will bring together Ug Gibson of Medford and Terry Mitchell of Somerville.

Tommy Rawson, Jr., of East Boston will oppose Val Nadeau of New Hampshire in a six-round event, while in another six Young Jack Dempsey will collide with Albion Holden.

Connie Mack Fails to Celebrate Victory

After his Athletics formally won their second straight American League pennant yesterday, the 68-year-old leader ate dinner early and retired before 9:30 p. m., leaving orders at his hotel that he did not wish to be disturbed for any reason.

Jack Conway today picked Jimmy Braddock to win over Phil Mercurio and Dick Daniels to upset Marty Gallagher at the Boston Garden's show tonight.

"Braddock is a seasoned battler who knows how to box and fight," said Jack. "I believe he has had too much experience for Mercurio.

"I never saw Dick Daniels, but I am picking him to win from Marty Gallagher on the strength of his victory over Al Fay in Chicago."

Conway's 1930 record follows:

WHO KILLED THE COCKY ROBINS--

Frisch. Umpire Pfirman. Lopez. Bottomley.

THE ANSWER TO THAT FABLED mystery seems to be Mr. James "Sonny Jim" Bottomley, the smiling first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals. He's shown crossing the plate after cracking out a homer, with Frisch, who is walking away, on third at the time. Bottomley's drive enabled the Cards to make a clean sweep of the Robins series, and the experts will be upset, as is customary, if the Cards do not now romp home in first place in the National League fight.

giant may give him and the fistic world the biggest shock they have had since Firpo almost knocked Dempsey out of his brogans.

One other "collegian" we want to mention even if we have fallen off the bottom of the column. The new Levinsky—King Levinsky of Chicago. King Levinsky, a collegian! Certainly! He's a graduate of the College of Hard Knocks, which offers a course in education which has Harvard's backed off the boards.

Levinsky left a fish cart on Chicago's West Side to enter the prize ring. Two of his customers questioned the weight of a herring and Levinsky knocked them colder than a salted mackerel. He has had 21 knockouts in 40 fights. Levinsky's latest knockout victim was Leo Lomski. 'Nuff said! That Chicago fish pedlar certainly will bear watching, even though he doesn't understand the Einstein theory and thinks Shapespeare wrote "The Face Upon the Bar Room Floor."

Bill McCall Turns in First Green Score

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 19—To Wild Bill McCall went the honor of scoring the first touchdown of the season at Dartmouth when he piloted the varsity in the first team scrimmage.

McCall caught a punt on his 25-yard line and turned in a pretty weaving run through the entire defense. His good work was matched by Eddie Toothaker, who held the opposing quarterback position.

Jack Cannell scrimmaged four teams and the only varsity absentees were Len Clark and Ping Ferry. Ferry is in the infirmary with a bad cold.

The scrimmage lasted a greater part of the afternoon, the teams relying mostly on running plays. Only one pass play was used. Jim Laughton, tackle, played well in the line.

U. of Minnesota Has Golf Course

BOBBY JONES FOOLS FANS

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP)—Bobby Jones, world's leading golfer, who told friends yesterday that he guessed he would take a "trolley ride" today, turned up at the Pine Valley golf course down in Jersey and played a foursome.

Bobby practiced yesterday on the east course of the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford in preparation for next week's national amateur tournament. He considered his round rather poor and intimated he would "lay off" the game today.

At Pine Valley today there were few persons on hand to watch him. His companions in the foursome were Jesse Sweetser, New York 1922 amateur champion, and Cyril Tolley and T. A. Bourn, English golfers. No scores were kept.

After knocking the ball around the course, Jones said he was not certain what he would do this afternoon, but might take in the ball game between the Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals, who are batting to hold their slight lead in the National League pennant race.

In the meanwhile, the course at the Merion Club was crowded with ambitious golfers entered in next week's championship, practicing for the opening medal play round on Monday.

Many Women Are Entered in Miniature Golf Tourney

The third day of the Boston Evening American miniature golf championship tourney saw many good scores turned in on the 18 selected courses.

Course managers announce a big increase in patronage from the women players. The women apparently have decided to make just as great an effort as the men for the weekly prizes.

The lowest score up to 10 o'clock on Saturday night at each of the 18 courses will be announced by the course managers on Monday night and prizes awarded.

Here is the list of prizes for this week:

WOMEN'S PRIZES

First—Imported French beret, "The Golfer"; now featured by Tuttle's.

MEN'S PRIZES

First—Beautiful hand-made necktie.

Both of these proprietors are very active at their courses and are pretty clever golfers.

The number of pros now playing at the various courses is becoming quite noticeable. They report miniature golf as a great aid in improving putting.

LEADERS FACE STIFF FIRST DAY GAMES

By BILL CONNELL

School grid teams of Greater Boston smash open the football season of 1930 tomorrow. Several of the leading teams of other years face the hardest opening tilts of their history and must fight to start the year with victories.

Salem takes on Cambridge Latin, Everett plays Worcester Tech, Beverly starts with Gloucester and Somerville travels to Nashua, N. H., in some of the important battles on the card.

Bill Connell

Usually the school schedule-makers have soft games listed for these groups for the first day of play at least. But the games noted above and others show that the strong elevens must travel in high to edge out their win margins, and some of them may take the next couple of weeks to recover from the strain of the initial wars.

Salem, unbeaten last year with the exception of a post-season game at Miami, Fla., has to beat out Leander McDonald's Cantabs. The latter team will have a fair backfield, but the line is not outstanding.

Yet Cambridge Latin is never an easy club to conquer, and despite the presence of splendid backfield material the Witch City eleven must hustle to win. Rand, Heffernan, Cullen and Axelrod will be the Salem backs, and their experience is likely to give the team its advantage over the Cambridge boys.

Somerville in for Hard Grid Clash

Charley Dickerman has promising material at Somerville, which has developed nicely, but his lads have a long ride to Nashua which may handicap them. Ray Pendleton has, at Nashua, a veteran center and enters right side of his line, one veteran in the backfield and another of the ball carriers who has seen plenty of service under fire as a tackle. The other Nashua first team members are experienced.

Revere high must come through better than expected if it is to give Malden any kind of a battle. A couple of sets of fine backs, and good line material make Malden too strong a foe for a school of the size of Revere.

Worcester Trade, with a heavy team and a fast, flashy back, Elmer Johnson, treks to face Capt. Sid Goldstein and his Everett teammates. Goldstein has an injured hand which may keep him out of much of the game.

Missing Jockeys Are Located

—Jockeys Paul Neal and Johnny Marcum, missing for two days and Lincoln Fields, Ill., Sept. 19 (INS) feared kidnaped, have been located in Benton, Ill., and are expected to return today and seek forgiveness of their employers.

The two days' search for the 17-year-old youths ended last night when it was learned they had taken joy ride to Benton in Neal's new automobile. Marcum gave the excuse that he was afraid of being kidnaped, and fled. Each earns from $15,000 to $20,000 a season.

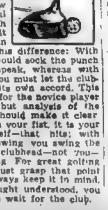
U. of Chicago Wins

Takarazuka, Japan, Sept. 18 (INS)—The University of Chicago baseball nine defeated the University of Waseda team today by a score of 6 to 4.

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
Golf's Greatest Teacher

I have known golfers, any number of them to change almost as if by magic, and begin getting great distance with the ball. But I have never known one to do so who did not get the knack of waiting for the clubhead, so that he got the punch into the swing in the bottom arc. Now you know in a general way what punch is and what it implies, but in golf there is the difference: With your feet you would sock the punch home, so to speak, whereas with the golf club you must let the clubhead do it of its own accord. This is a fact hard for the novice player to assimilate, but analysis of the swing action should make it clear. If you hit with your feet, it is your fist—or yourself—that hits; with the golf club swing you swing the club and the clubhead—not you—does the hitting. For great golfing success you must grasp that point clearly and always keep it in mind. With this thought understood, you learn easily to wait for the club.



BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

ENTERPRISE SWEEPING ACROSS FINISH LINE

FOUR IN A ROW. The best out of seven. That's just what American yacht Enterprise did to Sir Thomas Lipton's contender, Shamrock V. Yesterday's race was won easily, the American owned yacht going over the course off Newport in six minutes less than time made by the British boat. Here we have Enterprise. In the foreground is one of the Coast Guard patrol boats. The other craft is the official yacht committee boat. (International Newsreel.)

CONGER BEATEN IN MILE RUN

Ray Conger, mile champion, was beaten in the handicap mile, feature event in the Boston tercentenary sport carnival at Franklin Field.

The great Illinois A. C. star provided a real thrill when he finished in third place only seven yards back of Les Flaksman, the former Harvard star, and Marshall Kingsbury of the J. & P. Coats Co., to whom he had conceded liberal handicaps.

Baseball, Gaelic football, cricket, soccer, tennis, rink games and bowling on the green, quoit tourneys and a volley ball match were additional sports events that held the attention of the crowd. The Braves defeated the park department all-star nine, 6 to 4, in a game that pivoted by league contests for smart playing.

Two Gaelic Athletic Association football teams, Galway and Cork, battled to a 4-to-4 tie, through two half-hour periods of spirited action.

A picked team of colored stars from the Massachusetts State Cricket league put it over a selected team of M. S. C. L. white players, 6 to 79, to win the Mayor Curley trophy.

Fore River Soccer team gained an early lead of one goal and held it to defeat Beacon Oil soccer team 1 to 0. Freddie Greer, center forward, bounced Ballantyne's header from Taylor's corner kick, off his chest for the winning tally.

In exhibition mixed doubles tennis matches Sarah Palfrey, national girls' champion, and Malcolm T. Hill, former Harvard star, defeated Mrs. George Wightman, veteran racquet wielder, and J. Brooks Tenno, Jr., former intercollegiate doubles champion, 6—4, 4—8, 6—4. Helen Boehm and Maynard Weisberg, state junior champion, defeated Hilda Boehm and Albert Levy, 6—1, 6—4.

Friedman and Gagnon to Meet

Launching an indoor boxing campaign at the Boston Arena, Eddie Mack, Argonne A. A. promoter plans a number of big features for the club this fall and expects success to mark his opening gesture of the season, when Al Friedman, Roslindale, clashes with Hack Gagnon, Brighton.

These rivals will step into the Arena ring next Thursday night and settle a feud of two years standing.

B. C. GRID SQUAD WILL BE CUT TOMORROW

The first cut in the Boston College grid squad will be made tomorrow after the annual game with the freshman team.

The cut will be made at a conference of the coaches, but no candidate will be forced to turn in his suit. McKenney will retain everyone who still wishes to come out, although, of course, he will not be able to give to them as much attention as he has done thus far.

McKenney has now seven sets of backs running through signals and every one of them is of varsity caliber. How he is going to retain all of them and then keep enough linesmen to carry him through the whole season is going to be a hard problem for Joe to solve.

Wes Ferrell Chalks Up 25th Box Win

Cleveland, Sept. 19 (US)—Wes Ferrell won his 25th game of the season when the Indians came from behind to beat out the Senators, 3 to 2. Ferrell limited the Nats to seven hits while the Indians got to Sam Jones for eight.

College Grid Season Opens Officially Tomorrow

By BILL GRIMES

Although there are three college football games listed for today, the 1930 season will be officially opened tomorrow when no less than 15 contests will be played.

Tom Keady is out in Cleveland with his Quantico Marines for a battle with John Carroll while Alfred and Clarkson are waging battle up in Northern New York State, and Texas Christian, famed for their ability to lateral and forward pass, are entertaining East Texas State Teachers' College at Fort Worth today. Evidently Texas Christian is taking its football seriously for they have another game listed for tomorrow with North Texas State Teachers College in Denton. Regardless of the caliber of opposition, any college team that schedules two games in consecutive days, especially at this season of the year and especially in Texas, can be rightfully accused of over-emphasizing football.

Two Coast Elevens Open Up Tomorrow

Two of the Pacific Coast Conference elevens swing into action tomorrow, for Leland Stanford will play West Coast Army at Palo Alto and the University of Oregon is down for a game with the Pacific University. Stanford ran up 45 points on West Coast Army last fall, while Pacific was on the losing end of a 58-to-0 conflict with Oregon.

The Oregon-Pacific game will mark the debut of Head Coach Pat Spears in Pacific Coast Conference football. Spears has been one of the most successful mentors in the game for the past 10 years, starting at Dartmouth, after which he guided the destinies of West Virginia and then Minnesota. Other Pacific Coast Conference colleges and coaches will closely watch the result of "Pat's" debut.

Oregon State gets underway tomorrow with Willamette, but nine of the other 15 games will be played in the South. There is only one New England college, Rhode Island State, scheduled to open its season tomorrow. Rhode Island will play Arnold at Kingston and Coach Frank Kearney looks for an easy victory.

Eastern Elevens Begin Season Next Week

The University of Virginia and Washington & Lee are playing Roanoke and Randolph-Macon, respectively, at home; West Virginia will journey into Pittsburgh for a tilt with Duquesne, and Geneva draws St. Vincent's for its opening game.

Although the opening Harvard game is still two weeks away, Yale opens one week from tomorrow with the University of Maine, while Dartmouth starts off with Norwich and West Point tackles Boston University.

MR. FRISBY'S WEEKLY BROADCAST

Heart gripping scene described by Congressman Frisby in weekly radiograph broadcast

WASHINGTON.—Hello, America! Is it hot enough for you? Well, yours truly, Horace Frisby, is right here on the job. "How do you keep it up?" many will ask. "What gives you your marvelous strength? Your tireless energy?" Folks, it's Service. I'm out to perform. Your Uncle Horace doesn't loaf during these delightful Indian Summer days, when a fellow likes to take off his shoes and vest and just sit back and think. I suppose many of you are anxious to hear how I saved the beautiful daughter of a retired merchant prince from going to the New Moon? That was in St. Paul, Minneapolis, thirty years ago. She was a beauty! But for want of proper training, which is but too common in high society circles today, she yielded to the allurements of a fast life. Wearing an elegant veil and a close-fitting dress, she rang my door bell and applied for a job as typist. Having considerable presence of mind, I pledged her to wait on my doorstep while I ran to the police station, where I had her arrested. Her father happened to be a friend of mine. He was almost heartbroken when I told him his daughter wanted to be my stenographer, and that I had deduced that she smoked cigarettes and read confession magazines. She consented to go home in a closed carriage. Next week I will broadcast "Glimpses of City Life by Gas Light." Don't miss it if you can.

Health Gives Child Advantage in Life's Struggle

This Task Is Up to Every Mother

By R. S. COPELAND, M. D.

HEALTH COMES first of all in importance. The child who has a good start in life has an immense advantage over those who have been handicapped by ill health.

Dr. Copeland

I wish every kiddie could be well nourished and possessed of good health. So many children go about listlessly, without any joy in their school work and burdened more than they should be by long hours of study and home work. How about your child? Does he seem tired, pale and irritable?

There is a real reason back of all this. The question of under weight centers about a good many contributing factors. Perhaps the first thing to consider is whether the child has any physical defects. It is well to have your doctor look him over and give his opinion on the subject.

Sometimes a child with defective eyesight or poor hearing will develop a serious physical condition. Very often a nervous, high-strung child who is behind in his school work will be found to have quite serious eyestrain. If allowed to go on malnutrition and underweight might follow.

In the case of adenoids or diseased tonsils poisons are carried by the blood stream to all parts of the body. Such a condition should be attended to at the earliest possible moment. If the child seems to be underweight during this sort of thing it may be that the slight operation needed will bring him back to normal health.

A growing child should have fresh fruits and vegetables. These furnish those wonderful vitamins, minerals and other substances which promote growth and energy.

Every mother has a real task before her in looking after her growing boy or girl. She must be careful about their food how they eat it. Their sleep, their everyday fresh air and muscular development, are things which mean so much more than many other things.

The hours of eating, rest and sleep should be on schedule time for the growing child, and kept up through adolescence. These may vary somewhat with the age of the child but regularity should always be to the fore.

One doctor said to a mother of a 10-year-old underweight child: "If you will see that your child gets 11 hours of sleep every night, two hours out-of-doors and three good simple meals a day including a quart of milk, I can guarantee an increase in weight and improvement in his school work."

A child who is underweight must not be scolded. He should be encouraged gently but firmly in the right living habits. When his day has been reorganized and he has had time to build up his strength and ambition it will be worth all the time and worry you have put into it to see him well and strong again. Then when good habits have been formed, they should be kept up diligently for all his growing years.

What's in Fashion?

Ensembled Draperies and Upholsteries

Directed by AMOS PARRISH

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—We can't get away from it. Everywhere we go we find that word "ensembling." Even in draperies and upholsteries.

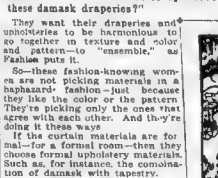
Just listen the next time you're in those departments of your favorite store. You'll hear women saying:

"Now show me some curtain material that goes with this chintz." Or—"What kind of upholstery fabric shall I use with these damask draperies?"

They want their draperies and upholsteries to be harmonious to go together in texture and color and pattern—in "ensemble," as Fashion puts it.

So—these fashion-knowing women are not picking materials in a haphazard fashion—just because they like the color or the pattern. They're picking only the ones that agree with each other. And th-y're doing it these ways

If the curtain materials are for mal—for a formal room—then they choose formal upholstery materials. Such as, for instance, the combination of damask with tapestry.



"—same pattern . . . different colors"

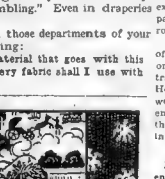
If the room is very informal, then both drapery and upholstery fabrics agree in degree of informality. Chintz or linen for one, perhaps, combined with jaspe or rough novelty weaves.

If the room is semi-formal, then a formal upholstery fabric in some times combined with a rougher type of drapery material—or vice versa.

Colors and Patterns

Having decided on the ensemble of texture, then they think about colors and patterns.

The easier way is to match colors. But the newer fashion is away from too much repetition. So often



"—large pattern . . . with smaller one"

In patterns, too, the easiest way is to match them. But- you an use the same pattern with two different colors in the backgrounds

"—loose flower . . subdued check"

Matched Patterns

"—large flower . . . with geometric"

There are many ways to ensemble your drapery and upholstery fabrics fashionably. The main object of fashion-knowing folks is to keep one dominant theme and accent it by a small or conventional motif.

DOUBLING FOR LOVE

Stolen Emerald Found in Judy's Locket, Given Her for Safekeeping by Tris Millet.

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER 50

CAP'N CHARLEY said, "Eh, girl —sit down then." He looked at Birke. "You tell her, Tim."

Birke's gaze was searching Yet it was a kindly look he turned on Judy as he watched her for a little, shook his head.

"We hear from young Camp that you've read of a jewel robbery in London, Miss Judy? You remember, I see."

"Why, of course! I was thrilled to death. Oh, is there something now?" Judy looked from Birke to Cap'n Charley's ruddy face twisted up in deep thought and back to Birke again with the beginning of a newer thrill. "Mr. Birke, you don't mean you have something to do with the thing? Oh? Why, I might have known! Were they caught the men?" she cried excitedly. "Is it finished—all the search?"

He answered quietly: "Finished —yes—only a loose end or two dangling. I am going to let you read the official report, Miss Judy. Not just to entertain you!" he said when he saw her eagerness.

He put a sheaf of typewritten pages into her hands. "Had to wait for this to come on from New York; that's what held us in Quebec. Well, read it through."

Stricken Eyes

Judy began to read. After the first couple of paragraphs she raised her head, sent an outraged glance to Mr. Birke, another to Cap'n Charley. Neither of them was looking at her and she went back to the report.

She did not look up again, but her radiance was gone in the dark. she finished the last page and raised stricken eyes.

"I don't believe it." Her white lips formed the words, but they were only whispers.

"Eh, Judy girl, hard to have faith destroyed." This was Cap'n Charley's gentle kindness. "You see why we had to keep you in the dark —couldn't have him getting suspicious—running off like the sailor—"

"Judy." Cap'n Charley spoke again, very gently. "Eh, then, you're young, my dear. Life— that's what. Life! However he seems to you, the lad is not right, girl. One reason or another for this—we'll not judge harshly. You've read what the police found. A boy of good family who chooses to make himself an outlaw."

"No!" That came out as a sob when Judy flung up her hands in protest. "He likes adventure, Cap'n Charley. He wanted excitement—"

"Eh, perhaps. I'll not say it isn't so. Still I claim the lad is not right. They left London the two of them for Halifax, thinking to throw police off by slipping into the States with an excursion crowd. Not a bad plan, why they had it figured out. The Spider was to work his way so they'd seem to be separated even while they were together."

"The fellow got greedy," Birke remarked. Tried to put Millet that day in Halifax. Almost had my hands on them, but Millet was too clever. Been slip and tuck ever since with the Spider trying to grab the loot—as you well know."

Three Stones

"But—but that's not very reasonable, is it Because if Tris had the emeralds he could have given the man his share and let him go."

"No." Birke was positive. "To begin with there were three stones—and you can't divide up three unless you sell them first. Then Millet didn't trust his pal to get back into the States or to let him get in. And I suppose the Spider figured what was the use of taking half when he could have the whole thing just by a little scrap with two. That was after Millet gave the stones to you for safe keeping."

"After — why, do you know what you're saying? Oh, that's unjust. Mr. Birke—it is, Cap'n Charley! Even if it's true about Tris you haven't a shadow—I just couldn't—do a thing like that—"

"Of course not, girl—eh, then, of course not! Not if you knew it. Still the boy did give you something, dear? A bit of a remembrance, likely? Tell the old Cap'n, Judy."

"Yes," she said. He gave me this silver necklace—not to keep, you see—just to wear till we land. Here—" She unfastened the necklet, put it down on the table. "See for yourself there's nothing about this. Search me, if you like. Search the stateroom.. why," she added in a bewildered tone, "you did that! It was you. And I never dreamed!"

Birke was fingering the necklet, looking at it through a magnifying glass.

Suddenly all the light in the room seemed to concentrate beneath his fingers and then to fling itself upward in a ray of brilliant green fire. He held the necklet aloft, nodding in triumph while Judy and Cap'n Charley stared at the scintillating glory his work had disclosed

"But—" It seemed to be all Judy could say. "But—I don't see—"

"Simple," Birke explained, "Millet or the Spider dabbed them over with paraffin to make them look like glass and had them set in the silver chain. You say it was an antique, not worth much but pretty. Get it past the customs without a ghost of suspicion—bring it in right under the noses of the law. Well——"

In Secret Pocket

He wrapped the necklet, stored it away in a secret pocket. "To make assurance sure he meant to let you wear it past the barrier, Miss Judy. What do you think of that?"

They let her go. She caught a glimpse of Peggy and Mr. Tennant in the music room as she hurried by. She marched for Tris, went to his stateroom in the end. But he was nowhere

It was past 3 o'clock by the timepiece in the purser's office. And Judy could not find Tris. She returned to her stateroom and from the window saw him, a lone shadow in the deeper shadows of the stern

She went out and stood beside him, aching with sympathy. "Tris,' she said. "Ah—Tris dear—"

Rhyming Optimist

Heartsease! What a lovely name
For a lovely flower.
Smiling through he sun's bright flame

All old-fashioned gardens knew
These lovely blossoms' worth.
Velvet-petalled, gemmed with dew,

Heartsease

Maidens have been called always
After flowers fair.
Lily, rose, a name betrays
All the sweetness there.

But to make the likeness true,
Dearer Flower than these,
I have found your name, for you
Should be called Heartsease!

One Candle For Each Year

By MRS. C. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am writing to you to settle a dispute I have had with my neighbor. She says that when a child has a birthday cake, there should be a candle for each year and also one for the coming year "for good luck." I think that if the child is five or any number of years old, there should be that many candles Will you please tell us who is right?

READER

Either is right for it depends on just what one wishes. Some follow one custom and some follow the other, but always it should be indicated at the party which custom has been followed. Personally I prefer the custom of having one candle for each year.

Professional Title

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When introducing a doctor (a young boy friend of mine) I am quite undecided as to what I should say. Is it correct to say, "Dr. Blank," or should it be just "Mr Blank"? R. H.

A doctor should be introduced by his professional title: "Mrs. Brown may I present Dr. Blank?"

Thanking One's Escort

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Will you please advise me how I should thank a young man for escorting me to a senior dance?

2. Shall I send the tickets to him or give them to him the night of the affair?

CONSTANT READER

1. Just express your thanks as simply and enthusiastically as you can. For instance, "Thank you so much for escorting me to the dance. It was very kind of you, and I had a wonderful time." (That is, if you are, as I assume the hostess of the occasion.)

Any expression of appreciation, so long as it says "thank you," is usually, from its nature, simple. It is the way in which we say our pleasing and gracious "thank you" which gives them their aura of charm and friendliness and conviction

2. I like this question because it really indicates that you have the sensitive point of view that I would be kinder to the young man to send the tickets to him, and I agree with you. When the man buys the tickets or has the tickets given to her she should always tickets as a part of her escort. for it at once puts him at his ease, and he knows how to proceed with his part of the evening's entertainment

In this case, it is always far wiser for the girl to write a little note to her escort-to-be telling him, for instance, that she is sending him the tickets for "safe-keeping."

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted (y readers.)

Drawn-Out Love Affair Is Fatal to Girl's Pep

By HELEN ROWLAND

THERE IS nothing like a long drawn-out love affair to age a woman and rob her of all her color, personality and pep

Sometimes, I wonder why so many sensible g ! pe.mit themselves to be entangled in these soul-deadening, "now-you-ve-got-me-and now-you-haven t" affairs, which keep them hovering on the edge of matrimony, and usually end in a blind alley.

Love is the most important thing in life, to a woman. But, like everything else, it has a primary and a secondary effect.

Just at first, falling in love, like a good massage, completely transforms and transfigures a woman. But, after a while, it is apt to leave her looking more saggy and wan than ever.

Marriage is different It is more like a beauty diet. A beautiful o sure thing. Its couldn't possibly absorb a woman's thoughts, wear out her nerves, keep her on the ragged edge ad spoil her beauty sleep as a sweetheart or a fiance does

A husband may TRY to establish a dictatorship over a woman's thoughts, time, habits, clothes and entertainments—but only a weakling really succeeds. Only a sweetheart can manage to transform a girl into a single island, cushioned and surrounded by his own personality

The most brilliant and dashing bf women will gradually fade into a pathetic little colorless echo, under the shadow of some man s per sonal domination

And, when at last, she has become just a reflection or a nonentity, and the glamor-glow of her individuality has disappeared, perhaps he marries her and she is "sunk."

That is why most men stay YOUNG so much longer than most women, even in these days of cosmeticians and plastic surgeons

A man never permits LOVE to absorb, dominate and obliterate him. Not for more than a few weeks.

He never "settles down" to any woman, until he marries; and some times, not even then. With him, it is "just a little love"—and then an other little love.

A man is always "in love"—but never deep enough in love to be utterly submerged by the waters of oblivion. But, a woman always plunges off at the deep end, and just floats aimlessly around, until fate or the man rescues her.

Yes, love does strange things to a woman. That's why when I see a girl suddenly brightening up, going in for a lot of new clothes and looking about her with a new light in her eyes and a new interest in her permanent waves, I always know that she has just fallen in love or has just fallen OUT of love No one-affair should last more than six months. An engagement should last for more than a year, or so. Then it's time to marry or to quit!

Listen, World! Women Folk Want to Live in City

By ELSIE ROBINSON

WINTER COMING on, no price for cattle or crops, everything hay-wire on the farm and no fun on this Farm Relief situation.

My ranch is eight miles from a busy little town of 2,000 —glass fronted striped awnings. War movies, pee wee golf courses 'n' everything. Right through the hills on the other side of my ranch is a real town. It's a pleasant road, shaded by great oaks, bordered by streams beyond which stretch sunny grazing fields where cattle range

Elsie Robinson

For about fifteen miles the road runs through the hills passing in its course some lovely ranch houses. Roomy ranch houses, with big barns adjacent and a homey flutter of woodsmoke and wash houses. Life might be very pleasant for the dwellers along the road busy with their chores, visiting together in the evenings. But as a matter of fact, it isn't. FOR NOT A SINGLE ONE OF THOSE HOUSES IS TENANTED.

Have the owners died? Have they failed and did the banks foreclose? No—the owners are very much alive and their folks are for the most part, intact. But THE WOMEN FOLK WANTED TO LIVE IN THE CITY.

It started with the automobiles Before that, Ma 'n Pa went to church couple of times a month in the buggy. A slow, jogging journey that took all day. Sometimes visiting along the way with a neighbor, exchanging geranium slips and wild gooseberry jam, discussing "chick feed." they spent the week end These trips were great events For weeks after they gave food for gossip and speculation But, for all that, they were tiresome Ma 'n' Pa were well content to settle down at home and rest in between the visits

Then came the automobile. The trip that had been a day took an hour. The fun and excitement that had been a monthly luxury now became a daily necessity. Presently they were yawning, wondering what to do with themselves, feeling sorry for themselves if they had to spend an evening at home They spend lonely hours on the porch, looking out over empty fields, when other women, and their folks, were thronging the streets, looking into shop windows, stopping in at Burnham's for a banana special? Oh, in the evening, taking in a movie or a whist game? Why waste your life trying to keep a big barn of a place clean, when there were city apartments where you could tidyup everything in an hour, with a grocery and bakery so handy?

Dad working his fields, rounding up his cattle, was still content But Ma, rocking on an empty porch, stewing over a hot stove . . . MA AND THE KIDS WERE SICK OF IT. THEY WANTED TO GO TO PLACES AND DO THINGS' SO MA 'N' THE KIDS GOT THEIR WAY.

Now the roads winds past empty homes. Pa comes down occasionally to suit the cows or brand the calves. Sometimes he stays over night—cooks his meal on the rusting stove, beds down in some old blankets But he doesn't stay long. It isn't like home any more So what's the use of keeping things up, ship shape, if there's nobody to use them What's the use of pruning the orchard or planting new trees when the kids get the "city-ish" ideas, who bother to raise vegetables when you can shop into a store and get all you want for 50 cents"

"THE WOMEN FOLK WANT TO LIVE IN THE CITY . . . I suspect that phrase has devastated more farms than all the blights, grass hoppers, hoof and mouth diseases and stock market slumps put together

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

IN THE beauty shops they are taking ladies' backs in hand giving them special treatments, so that they will qualify for bare back evening frocks. Surprising how many beauty ills can collect on the feminine back during a Summer season. Tan and sunburn extend downward from the neck line. Skin that is only half bleached looks dingy and grey Sometimes there are eruptions and blackheads. Every establishment has give muscle strapping treatments, sunlight baths, hand and arm massage, and curving exercises. Whatever you want you can have

Take the strong mirror to the light and see if neck and complexion are divorced They often are. Face and shoulders may be peachy-sweet and the epidermis on the neck gallery and unsightly. Necks are neglected. They rub against coat collars, catch atmospheric dust, have a trying time generally. They need bleaching cream, cold compresses and exercises to achieve Growing the head forward and back or from side to side.

Unless the body is held erect the spinal column having an inward curve at the waistline, the inner organs are thrown out of position. Posture is an old story, but it is always worth telling, though few women give half a thought to the subject. Proper carriage means that youth does not fly away, no matter what the birth date notation in the family Bible may be. It makes for vitality and mental well-being.

Husband in Love With Another

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

BEATRICE FAIRFAX will discuss a problem of heart and home at 6:35 p. m., over station WLEX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a married woman 33 years old and I have not been getting along with my husband. He is changing around with another woman and I have caught him several times. He told me he could not stay away from her, so what would you advise me to do? He was a police officer, but lost his job through her and he still is going with her. They seem to be crazy over each other. He pretends is like his children, but I don't know whether to stick it out or not He asked me for a divorce so what should I do? He bought a radio for her that cost $85. She chases after him when he don't see her. She is always riding by my house every night. Please advise me. DISCOURAGED.

Dear Discouraged—For the sake of the children you should try to put up with things as long as you can. At least, whether or not you leave him, the law can still force him to support you and the babies. When they are old enough to stand on their own feet and help you then you can do something about it, but I think you had best let things go along as they are for the present. You have my sympathy and that of any other woman who has had to put up with a faithless husband, so call on all your reserve strength and stick it out.

The Time Will Come to This Girl

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

You have helped many through your advice that I am sending my problem to you.

Everyone seems so surprised when I tell them that I haven't a "boy friend." I am 21 years old dress fairly well, always clean and neat, do my hair and look after health and make a good appearance. I play bridge, read good literature, can speak correctly and intelligently

The trouble seems to lie in the fact that I don't dance. What fellow finds that I don't dance. I usually don't see him again. Now how can a girl learn to like to dance? To be honest I've spent so much time trying to learn that I've given up hope.

I am very popular with all my girl friends. I am not the type that goes out and "picks up" young men. All the fellows I've ever met through friends of mine. Also I have never smoked or taken a drink of liquor in my life.

Do you think there are any young men left who do not dance? I will be looking for your answer.

BROWN EYES

Dear Brown Eyes—It's not completely essential that you know how to dance in order to be interesting to the boys. Many boys don't dance either, although of course many flirtations start with a waltz or a foxtrot. I am tempted to call upon our recent friend, Herbert, to behold the fact that not all girls smoke, drink and "pick up" whoopee! I hope he reads your letter. Anyway, a real interest in others, charming personality and forgetfulness of self is about all that's essential to making friends.

When the Summer Tan Begins to Fade

By JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

YOU'LL FORGIVE me if I seem to keep harping on ideas about make-up, but if I suggest them too far in advance of your need you'll forget the details by the time you are ready for them.

What I have in mind at the moment is that from now on you'll have to add a little flesh or rose colored powder to the shade you've been using during the summer if your face powder is to be kept in keeping with your complexion a it starts to bleach out

Those of you who plan a series of bleaching treatments, thereby gaining a skin several shades lighter in a very short time, can make more radical changes in the shade of your powder than those who, not having tanned a great deal during the Summer, need to just let their skin fade out naturally with time and lack of exposure

Blonde ranges and the flesh shade of powder to the one they have been using and brunettes will add a little rose color to their powder

Do this adding of powder sparingly and test it out carefully before you use it. Mix the powder well so that you get a perfect blending of shades An aluminum sifter makes an ideal powder mixer Just put two tablespoonfuls of your Summer powder into the shaker and then add a half teaspoonful of the lighter shade. Put on the cover and shake for a few minutes. This not only insures perfect blending but it leaves the powder in a looser, light state, instead of packing it tightly as happens when blending is done with a spoon or an orange-wood stick

Of course, you'll have to test out the powder, but if you have the general rule of flesh for blondes and rose for brunettes you won't go far wrong, even with your first trial.

From all beauty centers we find that lavender powder is becoming more popular for the Fall wear. There isn't any question but what it clears the skin, and for those early fall dances before sunbathing has been completed it makes one's beauty life more simple. BUT —remember the orange tones when you use lavender powder.

Would have to substitute the rouges for the orange ones when you use the lavender powder on your face, otherwise you'll get a change in color in rouge list a serious matter because you'll use the lavender powder on your face for in a very short time.

Also the orange lipsticks will make make your teeth appear yellow look dingy and you'll have to guard against that, too.

Don't worry about the general appearance of your complexion when making these changes, however, for the result will be the same under the artificial lights as your usual makeup is under daylight.

In changing from orange rouge to red to be used when lavender powder is favored for evening blondes should select the lighter paler shades and brunettes the more vivid ones This will keep your color values true for your complexion with the increased whiteness and clearness of the skin gained from the use of lavender powder.

Banks Accused of 'Racket' by Home Builders

Why Heavy Charge on Top of Loan Rate? Need for Education

By B. C. FORBES

New York, Sept. 19—Will bank ers and others please adopt a more encouraging attitude toward families anxious to build homes of their own?

Many readers have obtained their experiences when they sought financial assistance to build. A typical letter is given today from a man of high intelligence, holding an important position.

B. C. Forbes

Would you believe that only one-third as much real estate and building financing has been done in the United States this year as was done during the first eight months of last year?

A compilation received yesterday shows that realty offerings of $50,000 and upward totaled only $145,000,000 this year, contrasted with $320,000,000 a year ago. Bond offerings didn't quite reach $130,000,000, the smallest since 1922. Stock financing slightly exceeded $15,000,000, against $76,000,000 in the first two-thirds of last year.

Identically, realty financing was done by the following cities in the order named: New York, Baltimore, Boston, Seattle, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati.

"It helps somewhat to increase public and private construction," he said. After quoting that sentence the reader already referred to states:

"These words from the Apostle of Northampton add emphasis to a problem that has concerned me for several weeks, home building. My experience—and doubtless hundreds of thousands of others have had the same experience—raise the question: 'What good is a bank?'

"I have had an architect draw up plans for a new domicile. Approaching the time when I must consulted several banks, loan associations, etc. Certainly I can get a first mortgage at six per cent interest, but a service charge (how these institutions dislike to have you call it a bonus or premium) of 3 per cent to 5 per cent in addition!

"Now, money has been rather cheap lately, and what better security is there than a first mortgage on a private dwelling? And isn't a citizen proposing to build to be encouraged? Have not many of the biggest corporations pledged themselves to help President Hoover in his efforts to promote construction, thereby giving employment to many and bettering conditions generally?

"Yet, when an individual engages in home building and attempts to negotiate a first mortgage, he finds on the bill a handsome 'service charge' of about $700 on a $20,000 loan—which, over a period of seven years, actually means the equivalent of an interest payment of 4½ per cent or more.

"On the other hand, if a loan is negotiated by posting collateral, 6 per cent is all there is to it, and then the borrower can use the funds for gambling, if he wants to.

"It's a great racket. The banks, which are supposed to encourage sound enterprises—and now is the time when they should do that more than more than ever—step up grave doubts in the minds of thinking individuals who analyze their banking progress. Not one of them will admit it is a bonus or premium. It is very carefully outlined as a service charge, even though the title search may not cost $100 and the legal contingencies may not total a similar amount, and those probably go to a bank director.

"What is the $500 balance for? A penalty for building and giving employment to workmen and putting money into circulation for materials?

"I suppose it would be inconsistent for any one to crusade for an improvement in this 'system.'

"To him that hath shall be given."

* * *

Lenders need to do far more educational work if they hope to convince the average people of this country that their "service charges" are perfectly legitimate, proper and fair. The "haves" cannot afford to incite public hostility. A day of reckoning always comes.

Today's News of Live Stocks in Wall Street

The stock market at the present time appears to be more concerned with technical day-to-day influences than to long range industrial and financial developments.

Many speculators take the attitude that it is better to pay higher prices for stocks when the business outlook is unclouded than to pick them up at what appears to be low prices in a period of business decline.

Thousands of investors and traders are waiting for better evidence of the business recovery before committing themselves to the stock market, and conditions are not likely to change until these evidences appear.

Current price will hardly permit this plan being carried out, so that delay in the offering will be necessary unless the stock can be advanced

General Motors at Reaction's Low

Pressure on General Motors forced the stock to the lowest level on the reaction. Widespread recognition of the fact that the corporation will be well able to cover its $3 dividend is causing nervousness among its stockholders.

CURB MARKET HAS FURTHER DECLINES

New York, Sept. 19—Operations for the decline gained momentum in the curb market today, as little support appeared to halt the retrogression of pivotal issues which has continued for a week with only one interruption. There was a late rally.

Buying was reported to have been discouraged by the shrinkage of business on the advance Wednesday and after some rather narrow movements at the outset, the resistance to seeing pressure lost strength.

Electric Bond & Share, American & Foreign Power, International Superpower, United States Electric & Power "A," Utilities Power & Light were soft utilities

There were active stocks in the industrial group, but as on the previous day, little interest was displayed in petroeul and investment and holding company shares. Dere, Mead Johnson, Temptone and Ford, of England were depressed.

The early selling, as on the "big board," was influenced by reports, later denied, of troubles in Germany

Activity Speeds in Engineering Field

Providing for Comfort After Productive Years
Life Income Bond Policy Turns the Trick
Why Rich and Poor Get This Sort of Policy
Produces a Definite, Guaranteed Income

—By Frank F. Loomis—

Decide what income you must have to live in comfort after your productive years are over. Then ask yourself what you must save every year in the meantime to be sure of having that necessary income begin then and last as long as you live. Can you answer? No —not without some figuring. If you do not know just exactly what your undertaking is, how can you expect to accomplish it?

Even after you know exactly how much you ought to lay aside each year, saving systematically remains the hardest thing there is to do, so hard that almost no one succeeds in doing it. Then, the care of your savings is a whole problem in itself. But—like everything else, when you know how, providing an income for your old age is easy. With the right plan to help you, you can accomplish painlessly in having the income you wish to arrange to begin whenever you choose and last as long as you live!

You subscribe for a life income bond, making you payments each year until the year you have selected for you" monthly life income to begin. After that, it is paid to you as long as you live, and it is as certain as life insurance itself. If you do not live to receive as much as you have deposited, the difference will be paid to any person you may name.

There is no medical examination to pass—nothing for you to do but make your annual deposit. This is quite easy when you figure out what you get in exchange—certainty of a comfortable old age and the privilege of forgetting all about saving for the rest of your life.

Rich men buy a life income bond because they want freedom from the care of their money; they want certainty of income. Poor men buy it so as to get from their small savings the largest income they can secure with safety. Men, who find it hard to save, buy it to force themselves to save.

Money put into an income bond earns a handsome rate of interest to come. It takes considerable calculation to figure out how much it is necessary to save each year to attain from any one source a life income beginning at a given time. It is perfectly simple to find out just what you must save each year to get that same income from a life income bond. And whatever income you arrange for is guaranteed. Such an investment cannot by any life insurance policy the equivalent of cash

A life income bond is practically a deferred life annuity, commencing at any desired age, and is wholly unlike most all life insurance companies.

As an example, a man, aged 40, his home company pays a net annual deposit of $257.80. When he reaches the age of 65, the company will then pay him $100 a month as long as he lives. If he does not live long enough to draw at the rate of $100 a month, all that he has paid into the company, the balance will be paid to his heirs or whomever he names as beneficiary, but in any event the $100 monthly income is paid to him as long as he lives.

Should he die before reaching age 65 all money paid in to the company is returned to his estate.

Health and accident insurance are becoming very popular, particularly with the middle classes of young men and women who are earning from $100 a month up, and who are dependent upon their earnings for a livelihood.

A young man or young woman who is earning, say, about $100 a month, can purchase a policy which will pay them for every day that they are unable to attend to business duties on account of any illness or accident the sum of $100 a month, whether confined to the house or not.

The sum of $50 a month is paid for partial disability, or rather, when they can only attend to business duties a part of the time. This policy also pays for $5000 in case of accidental death, and also $5000 for the loss of any two members, hands, feet or eyes, and $1500 for the loss of any one member. In addition, the contract provides for surgical fees and medical attendance.

* * *

The cost of such a policy is only about $75 a year, payable quarterly, semi-annually or annually, and it would seem that no one, dependent upon their earnings for a living, could afford to gamble with fate or be without a policy of this nature. No medical examination is required. Only such amount can be purchased to the amount of the insured's earnings.

SPECTATOR'S FAVORITES

By SPECTATOR

While the immediate course of price fluctuations continues to be influenced by the constantly changing whims of professionals, certain observers believe that the market continues to occupy an accumulation stage, during which average prices will back and fill over a wide range.

Beatrice Creamery

Pointing out that the rapid expansion undertaken by this company has placed it among the leading dairy organizations in the country, one commission house unequivocally declares the stock to be grossly undervalued at prevailing quotations. It is estimated that earnings for the first six months of the fiscal year will approximate $6 per share, with a full year's net in excess of $10 per share. Beatrice Creamery is currently being quoted at about 17 times 1930 earnings and affords a dividend yield of close to 5 per cent on the annual $4 cash payment

United Corporation

The strong sponsorship and management of this important utility investment corporation, as well as its extensive portfolio of holdings in strong utility companies, gives this stock attractive appeal as a long pull purchase and holding. The fact that electric and gas utilities are among the least affected by general business recession and first among the industries to recover, makes the outlook for price appreciation of United Corporation favorable. Large minority interests in strategically located Eastern utility systems placed it in a particularly desirable position should grouping of these companies take place. It is reported that liquidating value of its holdings is somewhat in excess of recent quotations.

Mexico Plans to Stabilize Money

Mexican government will take drastic steps to stabilize Mexican silver money and to improve exchange rates, Mexican gold Secretary of Treasury de Oca has instructed Bank of Mexico to withdraw about 30,000,000 silver pesos (about $5,000,000) from circulation. He is studying plan to limit imports of luxuries and articles that can be produced in Mexico to about $25,000,000 annually.

No confirmation of reports could be obtained but were given support by presence in Havana of Vice-President Eddy of Chase Securities Corp. and Alfred E. Mudge of the bank's legal counsel

High Grade Bond Issues in Demand

New York, Sept. 19—Demand for high grade railroad and utility issues continued unabated today as the two groups maintained their leadership on the bond market's current advance. With savings banks, insurance companies and other institutions as the principal source of inquiry, most of the gains this week have been in high grade investment issues.

Twice during the week the price level as reflected by the composite averages has been adjusted at a new 1930 peak.

BOSTON PRICES CONTINUE TO DECLINE

Prices continued to sag in dull trading on the Boston Stock Exchange today. Changes ranged from fractions to around 3 points, as losses were extended. Mohawk Carpet was an exception to the general trend, gaining over a point.

Stone & Webster dropped 3, General Electric 1⅜, General Capital 1⅛ and First National Stores was over a point lower. Edison recovered an early loss of a point.

Large producers of copper today reduced their price of the metal in the domestic market to 10½ cents a pound delivered, meeting the cut of a quarter of a cent a pound made yesterday by custom smelters.

The reduction of producers came shortly after Copper Exporters, Inc. lowered the export price one-fourth of a cent to 10.80c. C. I. F. European base ports, to bring it more in line on a parity with the domestic level previously established by the custom smelters.

Foreign sales of copper in the forenoon today amounted to 1,250,000 pounds, of which three-fifths was purchased by Germany. Total sales Thursday were 1,000,000 pounds.

Utilization of the corporate surplus as a business stimulant was urged by Kenneth L. Hogate, vice president and general manager of Dow, Jones & Co., at a luncheon marking the opening of the new quarters of the Cleveland Stock Exchange

Declaring that "the fetish of a corporation surplus today stands in the way of a revival of prosperity," Mr. Hogate pointed out the billions of cash accumulated by prosperous corporations which are "passively at work, but have no velocity." He emphasized the influence upon business through increased buying power that would follow substantial distribution of surplus cash to stockholders

STOCK LEADERS LOWER IN WALL STREET SELLING

New York, Sept. 19—Active stocks closed 3 to 5 points lower today under the pressure of an aggressive selling campaign by professional shorts whose large offerings of leading shares brought out a sizeable volume of liquidation from other sources.

The bear drive, launched just before noon on the circulation of an unfounded rumor of serious political disturbances in Germany, continued intermittently throughout the day after the market had been assured that this report was untrue, but covering toward the close reduced the extreme losses by a point or more in numerous instances.

STEEL NEAR BOTTOM

U. S. Steel, however, closed at 163⅛, close to the bottom, for a net loss of 3⅞.

Stocks down about 3 points net included Republic Steel, American Water Works, American Can, Johns-Manville, Electric Power & Light and Lambert.

There were declines of 2 or more in American Telephone, Atchison Bethlehem Steel, Sars Roebuck and Standard Gas & Electric American & Foreign Power, Radio General Electric, General Motors and Standard Oil of New Jersey sagged 1 to 1¾, but Westinghouse broke 5¼. J. I. Case lost 5.

The "scare" rumor circulated today recalls that put out by some of the bearish element earlier in the week declaring French troops were being massed for immediate action on the Italian border.

The market encountered sporadic rallies and recessions throughout the afternoon, but was more active on the down side.

The weakness of the market found many holders ready to part with their stocks. Some disappointment has been expressed this week over the failure of the anticipated business revival to materialize in a broad way and many who had made purchases during the advances of late August and early September had placed stop loss orders which were uncovered by the declines.

COPPER IS CUT

The day's reports from industry and trade were rather nondescript, although it appeared that large copper producers had definitely cut the domestic price to 10½ cents a pound. The custom smelters were also holding at that figure.

Steadiness of the Department of Labor's commodity index in August, which was unchanged from July, was attributed chiefly to the rally in farm produce prices last month because of the severe drouth, for many of the other important groups of staples declined.

There were a few unfavorable dividend actions, notably by the directors of Park & Tilford and Dunhill International. On the other hand, Allegheny Steel voted an extra and Diamond Shoe increased its rate. Wall Street heard a report that Republic Steel was likely to omit its common dividend.

A gain of $79,000,000 in brokers loans, although surprising in view of the downward movement of stock prices during the week covered by the report, reflected temporary borrowings through brokers for income tax payment purposes. The Federal Reserve statement showed that bank borrowings had dropped $20,000,000 to the lowest level in several years.

The money situation remained favorable. Call loans renewed at 2 per cent gain, but funds were liberally offered in the outside market at 1½.

Aroostook Showing Is at a High Mark

Bangor & Aroostook established a new high record for both gross and net earnings in the first seven months of the current year. The road has been one of the exceptions among the carriers. It has been showing to good advantage all year. That has been responsible for some of the buying which has come into the stock, and credited to New England interests. At current levels the issue still is selling on the lowest basis relation to earnings in the leading rail group.

Doherty Concern Acquires Company

Negotiations have been completed for transfer of control of Chapman-Stein Co., a subsidiary of C. J. Cooper-Bessemer Co. of Mt. Vernon, O., to Surface Combustion Co. of Toledo, a Henry L. Doherty & Co. subsidiary. Both companies manufacture industrial heating equipment.

IRREGULAR DIVIDENDS

H. C., Cambridge—I have been a reader of your paper for many years and want your opinion of a purchase of U. S. Smelting common.

Ans.—Because of irregular dividend record, U. S. Smelting, Refining & Mining common is speculative. Payments were distributed from 1907 to 1914; nothing in 1915; resumed in 1916 and continued to 1920; discontinued March, 1921, resumed in 1925 at 75 cents a share quarterly, increased to 87½ cents in 1926 and reduced July 15, 1930, to 25 cents a share. For year ended Dec. 31, 1929, net income equalled 5.31 a share, contrasted with $6.66 in 1926. Five months ended May 31, 1930, earnings were $1.12, contrasted with $2.19 for similar period of 1929. Be conservative. Let us know the amount of cash you have.

WAIT AWHILE

E. L., Boston—I own 20 shares each Pillsbury Flour Mills at 35 and Pennroad Corporation at 16. I have saved an additional $2000, which I want to invest. What shall I buy?

Ans.—Keep the $2000 in the savings bank. There is nothing better than ready cash in emergencies. Pennroad Corporation is a speculation, though an initial dividend of 20 cents a share will be paid Sept. 15. Pillsbury Flour Mills is one of the largest flour milling companies in the world. For fiscal year ended June 30, 1929, earnings of $5.12 a share contrasted with dividends of $2 a share. Net for fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, was $4.05 a share.

Municipal Bond Buyers Are Aided

For the use of municipal bond buyers and dealers, the First National Old Colony Corporation has prepared a pamphlet giving preliminary United States Census figures for 1930. The booklet lists all cities of over 5000 and all counties of over 10,000 population, giving comparisons with the 1920 census figures. It is said to be the first consolidated compilation of the 1930 figures to be published.

Fox Outlook Is Seen as Better

"Prospects are that earnings for the third quarter will exceed the second quarter, and that earnings for the last six months this year will exceed the last six months of 1929. This statement is based on contracts the company already has in hand."

Secretaries Davis and Lamont Speak at Camden Dedication

Outstanding business men and government officials will vie with vocalists and musicians in a salute to radio for solving the unemployment problem. The program, originating in Camden, N. J., will be broadcast by the combined work of the NBC and heard locally through WEEI at 10:30. "The Dedication of Camden as the Radio Center of the World" is the name of the program which will be broadcast from a dinner, celebrating the occasion.

Graham McNamee will introduce the speakers, who are Secretary of Labor Davis, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, A. E. Robertson, chairman of the Westinghouse board of directors; E. E. Shumaker, president of RCA-Victor; Senator Baird of New Jersey and Governor Larson of New Jersey.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by Nathaniel Shilkret and his Salon orchestra. Vocalists who will be heard include Richard Crooks, tenor, and Frank Crumit, recording artist.

Concerning Radio

Edited by BILL WHIPPLE

There is a certain phase of radio entertainment which more and more is becoming apparent, and that is the writing of sketches and continuity for the broadcasts. Radio is on the road to developing an entirely new cast of dramatists of its own, quite separate from the literary stars such as the Shaws, Galsworthy's and others, who rank foremost in the art today.

As has been true in other lines of radio work, we are now in process of developing the specialized radio dramatist with the particular style demanded for presentation over the air.

Generally speaking radio technique demands something quite different in dramatic presentation from that which is given on the legitimate stage, and it is for this reason, we believe, that much of the radio drama presented today is written, not by men and women who have made their names world-famous, but by a small group of comparatively unknown writers who have developed a specialized style particularly suited to the limitations, as well as to the advantages, of radio presentation.

It is a big field with plenty of room in it; it is still a very young industry and it seems to us that any of you subscribers who have a little imagination and even a small amount of literary ability could do much worse with your spare time than by trying to grind out your own idea of a broadcast. You may "click" with it; and if you do it pays well.

Here is a thought which we believe is worthy of your attention, and which originated in some propaganda received from the RCA Radiotron Company. It is merely that they believe when the majority of sets today are not giving the same high quality reception they did when new, it is simply because one or more of the tubes are functioning below normal.

The ear is a tricky thing and, when one set is listened to constantly, reception can deteriorate without the listener being aware of it. Many times the set owner is not even aware of any deterioration in the quality of reception because he has not compared the reproduction of his set with one that is operating properly.

Guess a great many of you folks have met Bob Berger, or at least you've been in his restaurant up in the Metropolitan Building. Yes, that's right, where a dark-complexioned young woman makes waffles in one window, while in the other numerous photos of actors and actresses—all friends of Bob's—meet your interested gaze.

It seems that Bob can't give you half enough entertainment in his food emporium, so he's arranged to have Bartlett Simmons, tenor star of "Princess Charming," with the male chorus, from just across the street at the Shubert, do their stuff for you tonight at 7:15 over WBZ-WBZA. It ought to be good.

When we received the preceding notice we got all fussed up about it, until we came to the part which said "male chorus"; that sort of took the kick out of things. The truth is, neighbors, after three weeks away while various politicians utilized our 15 minutes to tell what each thought about the other fellow, we return to the air tonight at 7:45, and it would be rather nice to have a bunch of—well, we're disappointed.

Billy Jones and Ernie Hare, the inimitable Interwoven Pair wax philosophical in a humorous way when they sing "Laughing at Life" during their broadcast heard over WBZA at 9 o'clock. The orchestra under the guidance of Will Perry will offer a group of sad, sentimental songs.

The ukulele has caught on, it seems, for on last week's Nestle program the guest artist was Frank Crumit, whose ukulele tinkling has won him grand approval. And again tonight, the guest artist is a ukulele-ist, Johnny Marvin. The latter, however, differs from Frank inasmuch as he sings tunes of the moment whilst accompanying himself, and Crumit goes back to days of old. "Little White Lies" and "Go Home and Tell Your Mother" are among the numbers Johnny will sing. Nat Brusiloff and the orchestra will serve up intricate jazz interludes. WBZA at 8 o'clock.

RADIO Personalities

JOHNNY MARVIN, heard on the air tonight, was born in a covered wagon en route from Kansas to Oklahoma. Writes 36 songs a year and owns his own ukulele factory. And owns one of the Thousand Isles . . . EMERY DEUTSCH had his third auto accident the other day. Not badly hurt . . . 300 visitors sit in on each True Story broadcast. And Californian visitors outnumber New Yorkers though the program takes place at WABC . . . 300 phone calls in an hour the other day is the record WBBM, Chicago boasts. The occasion was a radio appeal for someone to submit to a blood transfusion to save a boy's life. And the above was the response . . . PHIL NAPOLEON and his MEMPHIS FIVE have played for 23 recording companies and have made more than 4000 records . . . Two women recently made a phone call from St. Louis to N. Y. to settle a bet as to whether McNamee or John S. Young was announcing a certain program . . . EDWIN WHITNEY worked his way through college by paper hanging.

Enterprise Mast Makers Earn Well

Good earnings are reported by the Glenn L. Martin Co., which in addition to its manufacture of flying boats produced the duralumin mast of the Enterprise. It estimates net profits, after all charges including depreciation and taxes of more than $100,000, for the three months ending Sept. 30. The company started operations in its new Baltimore plant less than a year ago and delivered its first complete flying boat in June.

Horse "Lost" After Parade Found at Armory

He was the saddle horse hired from Samuel J. McNeilly's riding school in Chestnut Hill, Brookline, by the city of Boston, for one of the riders in the Boston Day's parade on Wednesday that was reported lost when not returned after the parade.

Through a mistake of one of the soldiers, the horse was taken to Commonwealth Armory. Mr. McNeilly telephoned the armory yesterday morning and was told the horse was there.

Neither David nor the old uncle could say.

"She must be very pretty, the little Mrs. Farnsworth," the blind woman said after a pause. And how would you describe her, David?"

"Who? Mrs. Farnsworth? Umph. Yes, you'd call her pretty. A blond. Blue eyes."

"I had that in mind. Does she shine, David. Is there a shimmer in her hair, and a—"

"Damn it all, I said she was pretty," cried David, the woman-hater, edging away.

The blind woman stood still, smiling gently. "Strange Gordon didn't stay around more. He was always the one with the liking for the ladies. Not like David. I remember how he danced attendance on the Willoughby girl. She must have been very pretty, too."

"But different, Maudie," her brother put in. "A pretty woman, and you've said it. Now this other one, this Mrs. Farnsworth . . . she'd be hard to forget. A man likes to look at her, and to talk to her, too."

"And Gordon had no time for her?"

Gordon Moore pulled his hat over his eyes, in the gesture so much like his younger brother's "Gordon's no fool," he said bluntly. "The girl's married. Besides, he's not one to lose his head over a woman. The Willoughby and the others . . . what did they mean? Nothing!"

Miss Maudie Moore nodded her silvery head.

"I was just asking," she said. "You forget sometimes, my dears, that there's no sight in my eyes. So I must ask questions."

"Precious few you ask," her brother said, before he went back to his box-like office at the end of the building.

He did not go to work immediately. He filled a pipe, and lit it slowly, looking past his littered desk, into space.

"Maudie's worried about Gordon," he thought. "She thinks there's an attraction between him and Farnsworth's wife . . . Maudie sees so much more than the rest of us . . . never knew her to be wrong . . . Farnsworth looked pretty glum . . . Pshaw, I'm not going to worry, I'd trust the boy."

The whistles blew. On the dam a new shift went to work. Old Andrew Moore still sat at his desk, looking into space.

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Right now the automobile merchants of Greater Boston are making drastic price reductions on all Used Cars for the sole purpose of clearing their salesroom floors.

To the man owning an old model car such as 1924, 1925 or 1926, we offer the following suggestion that he may realize the utmost on his present investment toward the purchase of a late model Used Car.

The automobile merchant cannot make a large allowance on these older cars, but you can sell the car independently of him, and after receiving the down payment, the dealer from whom you plan to buy a late model Used Car can finance the balance of the payments owing to you.

Certainly this is a fair arrangement. It permits you to buy a later model car than the one you now own plus taking advantage of the drastic price reductions now in effect, and allows the dealer to give you an additional discount because he does not have to pay a salesman's commission on the resale of your old car.

Remember, the dealers have reduced prices on all Used Cars to clear their salesrooms.

Must Germany Go 'Red'?

It Is Time to Undo the Crime of Versailles Treaty

The world is amazed, Europe disturbed and France badly frightened by the sudden turn of political sentiment in Germany.

At the other extreme are Communists, the "Reds" constantly gaining strength, menacing Europe and the world at large with a BOLSHEVIST GERMANY.

A danger that now becomes clear even to the half blind should have been clear to all of Europe long ago.

The treaty of Versailles, planned to bleed the German nation to death, is foolish as well as brutal. It draws upon the vitals of German industry and German prosperity for hundreds of millions in gold each year.

It means long hours of hard work for every German, discouragement for the nation and for the individual.

No race will stand that, none could stand it.

If the allies, gathered at Versailles and backed by foolish individualism, not representatives of America, had deliberately planned to bolshevize Germany, they could not have done better or acted more effectively.

It is time to undo the foolishness, the crime of the Versailles treaty and remove the heavy and impossible burden laid upon the backs of the German people.

It will be too late once Germany really turns to Russia and toward the bolshevistic policy.

New England Confidence

Hiram Ricker Gives Reasons

Mr. Hiram W. Ricker, the nestor of Poland Springs, looks upon the world through eyes of confidence.

The country's sound, he says. People have begun again to buy. Industrial and mercantile stocks are becoming exhausted. Now let the merchants begin to buy also, and send alert agents into the field to develop new lines of business.

He speaks of Maine with optimism and pride. More than $23,000,000 spent on new roads the past two years, a sensible project, thanks to his own initiative. Summer tourist trade grows at the rate of thirty millions of dollars a year, now reaching $140,000,000 annually. Nearly 29,000 autoists stopped at a single information bureau to get facts about the State. Once abandoned farms are being reclaimed with clock-like regularity.

Out of a lifetime experience as an employer and aggressive businessman, Mr. Ricker says this, most important of all:

"Pay workmen well. Most men are willing to give a good day's work for what they get. They and their families are entitled to something more than work—to rest, recreation, good schooling and the comforts and enjoyments of life."

With leaders of that type, optimistic, aggressive and kindly, New England cannot go wrong.

What People Think About

Assuming They Think

What does the public think about? Politics? Unemployment? The tariff? Revolutions in South America? The election in Germany? War in China?

Not it.

At the moment, the United States of America has focused its 120,000,000 pairs of eyes on the National and American Leagues, with a side glance up toward Newport, and another toward the nearest Tom Thumb golf course. Ask it who Hitler is and it looks blank. Ask who the Robins or Cubs are, and it will tell you with details.

This may seem sad, or even alarming, to the serious-minded minority who wonder what makes the public that way.

Perhaps it is sad.

However, it is true. To ninety-nine out of a hundred of us, whatever is unimportant is interesting, and whatever is important is uninteresting.

It always has been that way, and chances are it always will be. And that's that!

Our Auto Death Roll

Too High, But Safety Moves Help

The statistics which come to us from reliable sources indicate that 350 persons were killed in automobile accidents in this State in the first six months of this year.

It is a sad and an unfortunate toll. It is one which cannot be condoned, because most of our fatal accidents result from causes which could be avoided by careful and scrupulous driving.

One fact only may be stated in mitigation of the indictment. Our auto registration has increased by possibly 100,000 cars this year. Our patriotic exercises have attracted new and sizeable fleets of auto tourists to our highways. Yet, the death and accident cases have not increased. We can take out of this the consolation that the campaigns for safety have received a public response which is worthy of partial if not of complete praise.

The Draper Recount

Mr. Eben S. Draper asks for a recount of the votes as cast and tabulated in the wards of Boston. Similar action is contemplated in other cities. Our elections, as a whole, have been notably free from the notorious frauds which have disgraced some American municipalities. However, if Mr. Draper has any doubt whatsoever as to the accuracy or the honesty of the tabulations he should exhaust all the processes of a recount until his doubt has been fully satisfied. It is not his right so much as it is the rights of the 155,000 Republicans who voted for him that should be protected.

The Cup Stays Here

Hail, Sir Thomas! What your boat lacked in speed you made up for it in good sportsmanship. Hail, and au revoir!

A SLAP ON THE WRIST

By NELSON HARDING

With feeble, ineffective blow
He slaps himself upon the wrist,
Not hard enough to make him drop
The glass held in the other fist.

He bluffs and pretends to enforce
Dry laws, not wh sincerity.
And so keeps uphe hollow sham
And winks at Dr hypocrisy.

New York Day by Day

Soap Box Orators in Fine Form

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—Thoughts while strolling: Manhattan's dainty heels-click, click, click! Those floating opal pendants. The halo wealth gives mediocrity in this town. Never see Francine Larrimore any more. Soon the Yule logs will glow. Nothing a person will miss like popularity.

L. M. Boomer, a Poughkeepsie, N. Y., boy, who made good in the city. A new hotel furnishes continental breakfasts in rooms free. A motor lunch kit that becomes a table. No city sound has the charm of a side yard bumble bee in a small town. Black and orange sleeping shirts. Gay Nighties!

Why do frozen-faced men have such joyous wives? John M. Gregory, writer of Western tales. The broiled black seashore boys begin to pale. Howard Thurston, the magician. What would New York revues do for material without the good old Folies Bergere? Barney Gallant back from a swing around the Orient.

The melancholy odor of burning leaves. And that glow from roofs of Fifth ave. skyline—the pale amber of Haut Sauterne. Wonder if anyone likes broccoli without sauce? You don't have to answer, I really wouldn't care a lot. They don't name girls Lulu any more.

H. W. Hanemann is writing excellent humor. And I wish Ring Lardner would do more writing. A youth with aeroplane wing shoulders stops his roadster to light a cigarette for his girl, takes a swig from his flask and shoots away. Anyway, 1930 love is different. Mark Leuscher's as young as ever. And as obliging.

The Alger books were far more interesting than 90 per cent of the muck today. Persistent urchins who hang onto auto doors to sell magazines. And smudge up the windows. Pape Poupon who gave away his "red ink" cafe when prohibition arrived. And now peddles lace.

Crowds around broadcasting studios to see favorites. And look abashed and self-conscious when they appear. Overheard: "Just as I was going to sue him for breach of promise, he wants to marry me." The icy hauteur of manikins. And old bucks who paddle at their heels. Toodle-oo!

Soap box orators are in fine forensic form at their open forum in Columbus Circle. They decry the fustiness of their fate and lampoon "the crushing heel of capital" to enthusiastic crowds. One today, resembling George Rector, made a sound point. Said he: "Workers are ready to submit to rules of society, but each should be guaranteed the right to earn a living. Until we are this country has no equality."

Few of us are satisfied with our jobs. When I was crossing t's and kicking commas out of reporters' copy I ached to be a reporter. When a reporter nothing looked so grand as the job of special writer. And so on. Soap box orators are recruited from such restlessness. We keep on kicking until we kick ourselves out of a job altogether—or become columnists. And prattle along like this.

The other week I saw the Rath brothers after 10 years. They are smiling acrobats and as such have been "stopping performances." In the show world the acrobat is the lowliest of performers—comparable to the contortionist in the circus, who to circus folk suggests the snake. Vaudeville's unholy curse is: "May all your children be acrobats!"

The Rath brothers, in the eddigustian manner, are an example of the measure of success that comes to humblest workers when they stick to it. I first saw them when serving as one of those fresh-every-hour press agents for the old Midnight Frolic. Acrobats had never before been featured in high-priced revues. They had a polish and made the grade. I wager either never had an idea of being anything but an acrobat. I am told they have never missed a day rehearsing since they first appeared on Broadway.

ON "THE SCIINCE OF LIFE"

How Developmnt of Sex Differs

What Determines Sex.

SEC. 1. THE NORMAL CAUSATION OF SEX.

WE PROPOSE to devote a whole chapter to the determination and development of sex here, for three reasons.

H. G. Wells

First, because it throws much light on development physiology; it illustrates with exceptional clearness the way in which genes, internal secretions and so on work together in individual development.

Secondly, because it is one of those fields which have been enormously illuminated by recent work.

And, thirdly, because it is good to tell simply, clearly and cleanly in terms of genes and gametes, matters too often treated in an atmosphere of shame and dingy heat.

First, we will consider that central problem, what determines whether a child or a young animal shall be male or female? A rich variety of views has been put forward on this question; the sex of one's offspring is due to the quantity or quality of the mother's food, to maternal impressions, to auto-suggestion; one ovary makes boy-eggs and the other ovary makes girl-eggs—these and many others.

Some of these notions still have their advocates. We need not examine these ideas in detail, for the essential mechanism is now known, and it has nothing to do with any of them.

About 30 years ago it was discovered that in certain plant-bugs the number of chromosomes differs in the two sexes. The female has an even number s pair of each kind; the male has an odd number, one less than the female. In the males, a member of one of the chromosome pairs is absent. The peculiar chromosoma, paired in the female, but single in the male, was christened the X-chromosoma.

The question at once arose, what happens to the male in the reduction division, when the sperms are being made and the chromosomes have to be sorted out into two equal sets? The answer may be guessed.

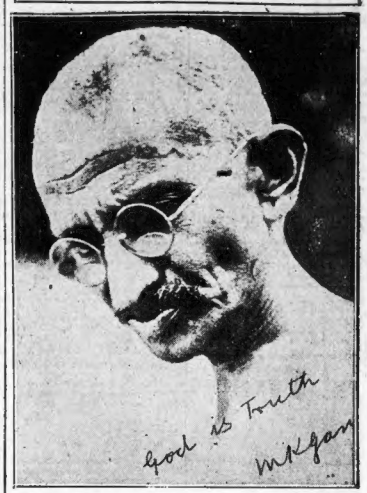
A Strange Man

A Strange and Earnest Face



GANDHI WHO LEADS 300,000,000

Upon the order of this half starved, half naked, ABSOLUTELY EARNEST man, millions in India refuse obedience to their rulers, the King-Emperor and government of the British Empire.

They throw themselves flat in the streets, to block traffic, inviting vehicles to pass over them.

They endure blows, not murmuring, and go to prison, not complaining.

SUCH IS THE POWER OF SINCERITY.

You may say of Gandhi what a wise man said of another, long ago: "That man is dangerous, he believes every word he says." He believes every word he says, and, particularly, he believes the words that he has written on his photograph: "God is truth."

Others have believed that, and have died for their belief, while cynics repeat the quotation: "What IS truth, said jesting Pilate, and would not wait for an answer."

In thousands of ways the human race has defined truth, and the "Gods" that represent truth to them.

India is a land of many gods, demons, and spirits of varying powers. The number far exceeds twenty-five thousand.

The Christian religion, like many others, has a Trinity. The idea of the Trinity, in some form, appears in nearly all religion. They have it in India, in Thibet. It is spread all over the world.

Philosophers will tell you that the idea of the Trinity had its origin in the first family group, the father, mother and child, with the fire that warmed and protected them from wild beasts, as the mysterious, unknown element.

But, in spite of philosophers and cynics, the world, as a whole, agrees with Gandhi, who lives in a nation burdened with superstitions that make a chaos of religion and yet writes on his photograph with utter sincerity: "God is truth."

For him, perhaps, truth itself is God, and therefore, GOD IS TRUTH. And while he professes reverence as he must for all the religions of India, his own belief is in one God.

He believes that the truth was revealed to him, and that it is his duty to reveal it to the hundreds of millions in India.

The British, who come from a foggy island off the northern coast of Europe, to govern and tax his country, believe that his theories are worthless, and would lead to chaos and destruction. And they probably are right.

With British power removed, the sixty million Mohammedans in India would proceed to dominate and murder, on a wholesale scale, the 240,000,000 Hindus.

And savage Afghans of the North, held back by the British from entering the Khyber Pass, would pour through, and fulfill their boast: "If the British did not interfere, we would kill half the Hindus, and make the other half slaves."

If the British Maharajahs, sent to school in England to acquire an English veneer, would return to the old days, the heavy foot of an elephant, placed on the head of an offender, would quickly settle any "subversive theories of government."

If the British were gone, and Gandhi continued preaching disobedience, the foot of some Rajah's elephant would soon drop upon his thin skull, and end its speculations.

None the less, whether Gandhi's plans be workable or worthless, and the odds are 10,000 to one that they are worthless, he stands as marvellous proof of the power that resides in sincerity.

Murderous Afghans attack British forts and that means nothing. The British send airplanes, drop bombs on them, and the savages scatter.

Tribes rise in rebellion in the Sudan and elsewhere. Machine guns attend to them.

But when an absolutely sincere man, who risked his life fearlessly, and almost lost it, in the war on the side of Britain, says: "You must leave my country to those that own it," when he is perfectly willing to go to prison, or be killed, HIS IS A SINCERITY THAT BAFFLES EVEN THE GREAT BRITISH EMPIRE.

"God is truth," says Gandhi.
"God is love," says the Christian.
"God is a jealous God," says the Old Testament.
"God is God, and Allah is His Prophet," says the Mohammedans.

The Gods and Goddesses are numerous.

TRUTH AND SINCERITY ARE ONE, AND, IN THE LONG RUN, INVINCIBLE.
